CAN WOMEN be of use in politics? Ask Governor Smith, of New York. He has a daughter named Emily, twenty-one years old, working in his campaign. She doesn't make fancy speeches, or long speeches. In fact, she makes the same speech every time, and it's only eight words long. This is it:

"I hope you will all vote for father."

That speech has probably made more votes for her father than many of the speeches five hundred times as long.

SIX DAYS more, and then the voting.

Candidates are trying hard to make the election seem exciting, but not succeeding. Gamblers whose judgment is said to be sound usually on national elections are betting 6½ to 1 on Coolidge.

And President Coolidge, to the annoyance of other candidates, persists in keeping his mouth shut.

POOR JOB, in the midst of his boils, exclaimed: "Oh! that mine adversary had written a book."

John W. Davis exclaims: "Oh! that mine adversary (Coolidge) would make a speech." Mr. Davis even suggests topics for Coolidge speeches, but President Coolidge doesn't make the speeches.

There is a power in silence. And the American people notice it. They don't notice speeches, there are so many of them.

MODERN crime turns an ancient test upside down. In Exodus, 20th chapter, 5th verse, you are told that the iniquity of the fathers is visited upon the children "unto the third and fourth generation."

Now the crime of the child is visited upon the father. Albert Loeb, whose son killed the Franks boy, is dead, killed by sorrow and disgrace. That should satisfy the bloodthirsty that demanded "somebody hanged."

That unfortunate father died a thousand deaths to atone for his son's hideous crime.

WHILE MR. COOLIDGE persists in giving his life-like imitation of Uncle Remus' "Tar Baby," John W. Davis, Admiral Energetic, is telling the people of America all about it. He says the issue in this campaign is "The moral leadership of mankind by the United States."

Many Americans do not understand it so, and believe that one issue of the campaign is minding its own business by the United States, and doing it well.

Many Americans feel that the business of a President is to look after the interests of the United States, while allowing Divine Providence in the future, as in the past, to attend to the "moral leadership of mankind."

THE VOTERS will be quite satisfied if they get a President to mind the business of the United States, keep prosperity alive and people at work, keep this country in condition successfully to resist attack, and postpone for as many years as possible the evil day when we shall have to pay for that war debauch.

WITHIN twenty-four hours, a girl of fourteen, scolded by her father, shot herself to death. An eighteen-year-old boy, beaten by his father, killed himself by turning on the gas.

Strange that man, said to descend from the "higher apes," or some animal like them, should treat his own children with a brutality of which no gorilla, orang-outang or chimpanzee was ever guilty.

A man that would not allow anybody to beat his young horse or dog for fear of "breaking its spirit" will break the sensitive spirit of his own child.

THOUSANDS BATTLING WOOD FIRES

Pray for Rain to Prevent the Smouldering Embers From Renewing Ravages

Thousands of weary forest fire fighters—many of them women—today were battling fires in various sections of Massachusetts.

As a small army of townspeople in the several sectors worked through the long hours of the night, the Salvation Army wrote a new chapter of service into its record by rushing food and coffee into the woods to the famished volunteer fire fighters.

Some of the forest fires have been brought under control, but others are raging unchecked. Another day without rain added to the fire menace in the Bay State and other sections of New England.

Hunters have been barred from the woods, and sharp warnings have been issued to trampers and parties party couples to beware of tossing matches and cigarette stubs into the brush.

TAKE MEN FROM STREETS.

Fires which have been raging near Webster for several days broke out near Sutton today, burning along a two-mile front and sweeping toward Webster with such speed that aid was called from other towns.

It is impossible to set a backfire because of the high wind and scores of men have been pressed into service to dig trenches outside the town under the direction of Fire Warden Samuel Magnant.

In response to his call for volunteers, 50 men came from Webster, 50 from Douglas, 30 from Sutton, 30 from Oxford, 25 from Whitinsville.

All men found on the streets of Webster were pressed into service by the fire wardens.

Leaping flames on the Monoosnock hill between Fitchburg and Leominster furnished one of the most spectacular scenes in the state last night and attracted thousand of motorists. The glare of the fire could be seen for many miles.

Lieut. Ernest Johnson of the Leominster fire department and his large army of assistants subdued that blaze before morning, employing many streams of water and back fires.

SEVEN MILES OF FIRE.

Great accumulation of cordwood, stacked on the hillsides furnished excellent fuel for the flames. Twenty-two hundred feet of hose was stretched from the Morse reservoir and the water proved an effective weapon against the blaze, playing along a seven-mile front.

Into the hills, along with the pleasure cars carrying spectators, there rushed Salvation Army trucks, bringing hot coffee and food. Salis

QUITS GIRL AND TAKES POISON

Mystery in Youth's Suicide Attempt at Franklin Square House

Robert Ulrich, twenty-four years old of No. 1819 Troupe street, Chicago, accompanied a young woman to the door of the Franklin Square House in East Newton street, early today.

After a brief but heated conversation, the girl entered the lobby of the building.

Ulrich stepped back and taking a vial from his pocket drained the contents. He then walked across the street to Blackstone Park, where he collapsed.

WILL "TRY AGAIN."

At the City Hospital, after a stomach pump had been used, Ulrich gave his name and address, but refused to make known the identity of the girl.

"I had a row with a girl. The next time I will do a good job and take somebody else along with me."

This was the only statement the young man would make despite the fact that the police told him he might die.

Physicians at the hospital, however, said Ulrich would recover. It was found the vial contained two bichloride of mercury tablets.

At the Franklin Square House the police obtained no information, owing to the failure of the night clerk, a woman, to understand what they wanted. Today the matron refused to give out any information other than to admit that several girls registered in the lobby, as is required after 1 a. m.

The matron declared she would not question the girls as she considered the matter none of the public's business.

Senator David A. Reed Tells Why U. S. Stays Outside the League

"We Must Be Sovereigns of Our Own Territory," Says Pennsylvanian, Who Outlines Policy of Administration

Following is one of a series of articles on the Coolidge administration written for the Hearst newspapers by members of the Cabinet and others officially prominent in the Republican party. Other articles will follow during the week.

By DAVID A. REED

United States Senator From Pennsylvania.

Washington, Oct. 29.—While our country is first of all interested in its domestic affairs, it realizes that its foreign relations are also of great importance. In that field it pursues the principle first of all of independence, then of peace, then of service.

It was mainly from a desire to be independent of possible foreign interference that the Monroe Doctrine was adopted.

It has no dynasty to maintain, no imperialistic policy, but only the welfare of the people to consider.

Service comes from the natural instinct of a religious and humane people seeking to be true to themselves by meeting these obligations which flow from the brotherhood of man.

Another example of the policy of independence has been the careful avoidance of political alliances. We have sought to treat all nations on the plane of equality and require all nations by so doing to maintain the open door. We have neither sought for friends to reward nor enemies to punish. We act when our own interests are involved, in accordance with our own judgment, for the protection of our own people.

Must Be Masters of Our Own Destiny

For these reasons we have not become a member of the League of Nations, though we hope it may be helpful to those who are in it. We seek independence without indifference and co-operation without entanglements. We propose to maintain within ourselves complete jurisdiction over our internal and domestic affairs.

We cannot submit to the discussion or determination of others what laws we shall make in settling our own affairs, what persons we shall admit, what persons we shall exclude. We must at all times be the sovereigns of our own territory.

LAWRENCE MAN FUND WITNESS

Tells Campaign Probers He Was Offered $22 a Day to Aid Coolidge

Washington, Oct. 29—Testimony that he had lured of men being dismissed by the American Woolen Company for supporting La Follette was given to the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures today by Jerry L. Ramm of Lawrence, Mass.

From that the committee moved on to charges that an offer had been made to hire labor men to take the stump for Coolidge.

Henry L. Ramm, a rabid fireman and La Follette supper, testified that H. T. Drew, a fiber supporter of La Follette, had offered him $11 a day and $11 for expenses to support Coolidge at make speeches for him. He al Drew promised that he would receive $1,500 over his expenses for this work and that $250 would be placed in his hands at once. It quoted Drew as saying, "Money is no object."

Similar offers, Ramm delared, had been made to other railroad men in Lawrence and on all accepted it.

HAUGHTON HERE FOR BURIAL TOMORROW

Percy D. Haughton came home today for the last time.

The body of the famous football coach arrived in this city from New York, where he was stricken while coaching Columbia's squad.

An escort of six students from Columbia accompanied the body on the journey to Boston.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, services being held at the Cathedral of St. Paul here and at Columbia University, simultaneously.

All of Harvard's football coaches and other members of the faculty, graduates and undergraduates, will attend the local services for the man who was rated as one of the best coaches Harvard ever had.

As a mark of respect, the Crimson team will hold no practice tomorrow.

SENATOR REED OF PENNSYLVANIA DEFINES U. S. FOREIGN POLICES

and the complete masters of our own destiny.

The present administration has made a secure peace with the Central Powers. It has settled with Colombia. It has negotiated a treaty with Turkey.

It has come to an amicable agreement with Mexico for the adjustment of mutual claims and the resumption of friendly relations. It has helped to adjust differences between Latin-American republics and secured the most satisfactory relations between our government and all of South America that have existed for many years.

PEACE PROMOTED

Peace has likewise been promoted by satisfactory agreements relating to our interests in the Far East and the Pacific ocean. These were of tremendous importance, and at the same time and what had never before been done in all our history, on our initiative we secured an agreement among the great powers for a limitation of naval armaments. This saved our country some $140,000,000 in the construction of battleships and over $30,000,000 yearly in their maintenance.

But what was of infinitely more importance, it demonstrated the desire of the great nations to put an end to competitive armaments and reduce their military establishments from an international menace to a means of domestic security.

The service which this country has rendered to others is almost beyond comprehension. An enormous amount of money has been poured out in charities. It has encouraged orderly government in Mexico. It has sent relief to earthquake stricken Japan. Finally it has had a tremendous influence in securing a European settlement under the Dawes plan.

It has helped to support the financial system of France. It has helped to stabilize the money of Austria, and furnished Germany with new capital to establish a sound currency. It is well within the truth to say that these efforts have saved civilization.

We believe in the adjustment of international differences not by force, but by reason. America took a leading part in the establishment of The Hague Tribunal.

We favor adherence to the permanent court of international justice, as recommended by President Coolidge. We favor international conferences for a further limitation of armaments and to lay plans for a codification of international law.

We favor co-operation with other nations to deal with such questions as the traffic in women and children, the production and sale of narcotic drugs, the control of the sale of arms and to promote public health and morals. Our country is for permanent peace and looks hopefully for a plan for outlawing aggressive war.

HOUDINI'S DARE TO MEDIUMS STARTS RIOT

Public Defi to Couple to Get a "Message" Starts Things in Denver

Denver, Oct. 29.—Harry Houdini, handcuff king, following his exposé of a Boston medium, made a man and woman the object of a public attack here and created a riot.

In the midst of an address in the auditorium he challenged Charles W. Stewart and his wife, the Rev. Jesse K. Folsom Stewart, mediums, to step to the platform and "get one message from the beyond." They had interrupted his address.

"If you do," said Houdini, "I'll give you the entire receipts of the house."

They refused. The challenge created excitement.

AMOSKEAG MILL TO CLOSE; WAGE FIGHT STILL ON

Announcement of Short Shutdown Follows Rejection of Pay Reduction

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 29.—A three days' shutdown of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company's plant was announced today. Work will cease on Friday night. Operations may be resumed Wednesday.

The shut down follows the Amoskeag Textile Workers' Convention, which has been seeking to reach an amicable agreement with the mill owners over wage cuts.

The 269 delegates to the convention, representing all of the mill operatives, agreed to accept a ten per cent. wage slash in order that the mills may meet Southern competition.

Agent Straw, for the company, countered with a suggestion that the workers take a large cut. This proposal was rejected by the delegates.

According to the mill operators wages in southern mills have been reduced 20 and 25 per cent and northern mills must make reductions to meet this competition.

The situation in the cotton market was described to the delegates, but they held fast to their assertion that not more than 10 per cent must be cut from wages in the Amoskeag mills.

The reason for the three-day closing of the mills was not made public.

Agent Straw left Manchester for a conference in Boston with F. C. Dumaine, president of the Amoskeag Company.

Straw said he could not understand why the operatives could not see the necessity of a wage cut.

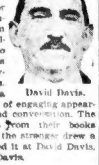
time making a request for a cash contribution for an unnamed cause.

That bit of wisdom was absorbed by Miss Eva Davis and Miss Edith Silverman of No. 3 Michigan avenue, Dorchester. Dorchester High School students, when an unexpected caller stepped into their home as they were studying their lessons.



David Davis.

The caller was a stranger but one of engaging appearance, manner and conversation. The girls looked up from their books with interest as the stranger drew a pistol and pointed it at David Davis, father of Miss Davis.

JOKE ON FATHER.

"What a funny joke on father," they thought, assuming that the man was a friend unknown to them.

The expression of consternation on Davis' face caused the girls to have some doubt about the friendship of the caller, and these doubts were considerably strengthened when the stranger insisted that Davis disgorge all of his cash. Thirty-five dollars and a check for $85 were quickly transferred from the pocket of Davis to the pocket of the caller. Making a few friendly remarks the stranger then backed out of the door.

SOUNDED ALARM.

Davis, his daughter and her friend thought it prudent to wait a moment before following the gunman, but as soon as it seemed advisable they sounded an alarm. Police of the Mattapan station searched Franklin Park, for it was believed the affable robber may have sought escape by that route. He is described as being about 35 years old, weight about 180 pounds, height about 5 feet 11 inches. His immaculate suit was blue and his hat was black.

The stolen check was made out to Davis by Barnet Leeser, a contractor who is building a garage for Davis. Miss Silverman, who was present during the robbery, lives in the upstairs apartment over the one Davis occupies.

Parents living on School street, Charlestown, are not going to have the lives of their offsprings menaced by an eleven-unit garage at Bartlett and School streets, if they can prevent it.

As a result of the protest filed by the parents of school children who use this thoroughfare daily, the street commissioners of Boston have announced that they will conduct a rigid inspection of the site before acting on the application for the garage permit.

The site of the proposed garage is almost directly across the street from the Warren grammar school, the Oliver Holden kindergarten and the Copley primary school, and thousands of children use the street each day. The Charlestown high school is also in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Robert Ellison of No. 68 School street, who is the mother of seven children, four of whom attend school, is outspoken in her opposition to the construction of the garage.

"The children have no playground in this section," says Mrs. Ellison. "What playing they do is largely done in the streets. A garage, with cars going back and forth at all hours, would keep us parents worried all the time our youngsters are outdoors. School street is essentially a residential section and a garage should not be permitted in the district."

Mrs. J. Fahey of No. 70 School street, who has three children attending school and Mrs. William Friel of No. 71 School street, who has two children attending school, are among the parents aroused over the plans for the building of the garage.

unions at Lawrence, receiving $25 from the Painters' Union and $25 from the Mill and Shopmen's Unions. He said the contributions were made as unions, and not as individuals.

"Is the Grand Lodge paying your transportation, and time lost by your presence here?" Bouland asked.

"Yes" he replied.

"Do you know of any men being dismissed from the union because of their support of Coolidge?"

"No, but I have heard of men being dismissed for supporting La Follette."

"Where?"

"At the American Woolen Company at Lawrence, Mass."

VISIT OF ACTORS.

H. L. Brunson of Washington, a machinist, told the committee he had been delegated to raise contributions from the trade unions for LaFollett eand had received approximately $120,000 from approximately 85,000 contributors. He declared that 94 per cent of the contributors were workers throughout the country who contributed one dollar.

In reply to Frank P. Walsh, attorney for LaFollette, Rhinelander Waldo said the Coolidge non-partisan Club brought to Washington the delegation of actors who recently breakfasted at the White House. The club paid for the actors, transportation and luncheon, Waldo said, aggregating $1,382.60. The arrangements were made with Secretary Slemp, and Waldo said he had not informed President Coolidge that the actors expenses were paid.

Waldo testified that his Coolidge non-partisan organization had raised $15,000 which had not been reported to the Republican National Committee. From 2 Ro 20 per cent. of the contributors were Democrats, Waldo said.

Asked by Senator Caraway if the actors' delegation had been "paid" to come to Washington, he replied: "I know they were not paid."

From Gilson Gardner, a Washington newspaper man, the committee heard a suggestion that Republican money had been used to secure the use of "lines" favorable to Coolidge in various vaudeville skits.

cooks worked throughout the night to maintain a constant supply. Their kitchen in the new Army Building in Leominster was a scene of swift activity.

At several points where the fire was the hottest it was found impossible to drive the motor-driven hose apparatus. It was to these remote areas that only horse-drawn fire wagons were sent.

Twenty-five acres of blackened ground mark the course of the forest fire that kept Leicester firemen on the jump. A close watch is being kept over the embers.

Baldwinville fire fighters, who have fought constantly for three days and nights, were able to go to their homes for a few hours of hard-earned sleep. The boundary lines of the arena over which they fought enclose a 400-acre tract of land on which trees and shrubs have been consumed.

Rhode Island and Connecticut prayed as fervently for rain as did Massachusetts, declaring that all of the numerous woodland blazes were under control and needed but a heavy shower to extinguish them.

AND WIVES STAY HAPPY, SAYS 'GONNA RAIN NO MO' AUTHOR

...VES IT BY OWN SPOUSE

"Traveling Troubadour" and Bride In Hub on Honeymoon

By GRACE DES CHAPMES

"Oh, I'm just a Southern Hop Toad,
"A travelin' troubadour,
"A fiddlin' fool just fiddlin 'round,
"A-singin' songs galore!"

"Sing to 'em, brother—no matter if it sounds like chatterin' bands in a Ford!"

Three months married and no scare—Wendell Hall, the "Red-Headed Music Maker," author of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'," "Lawd of My Sunset Dreams" and other melodies, can speak from experience.

The sunset-thatched gentleman from Chicago, who broadcast his marriage last Summer over the radio, and says he'll do the same with his divorce, gives brother Benedicts the "lowdown" on "How to Be Happy Though Married."

"Sing to 'Em! It gets 'em before—and afterwards!" sings Wendell.

MUSIC THE REAL DOPE.

"Look at me! I picked a red-headed wife—just to make the odds stiff—an' I'm as good as ever!

"I sing at her. When she gathers up her brows and shuts one eye—and her hand moves slowly toward our silver-plated wedding gifts—why, I get my pitch and SING!

"It's what the doctor ordered, I'll tell the world!

"When I finish my forty-sixth complete volume on psychology, I'm going to have that in it. It's going to be the sure-fire dope on how to please the wife—music!

"If you're dumb—buy her a ra'tle outfit or a ukulele. Women like music—even if it comes from a Mongolian idiot. They've been liking it ever since Romeo did his stuff under Juliet's window.

BROADCAST WEDDING.

"Look at John McCormack. I bet his wife'll never sue him for divorce! She doesn't care what time he gets in—as long as he sings."

Wendell Hall, with red-headed bride, startled a country gone radio mad last Summer when he escorted the preacher, the best man, the bridesmaid, his bride and himself into a sound-proof broadcasting room and proceeded to tell the world that he was getting married.

Mrs. Hall, by the way, promised to "love, honor and—respect—the redoubtable Hall.

"We'll broadcast the divorce later on," he assured the waiting fans just before he signed off.

However, neither Wendell nor his bride are ready to call in the judges.

"Marriage monotonous? I should say not!" says Wendell. "I never had but one girl—was having her for ten years before we got tied. Every time we fought we used to set it down in a little book, but later on we stopped. The books cost a quarter apiece.

"On this honeymoon we looked over the hula-hula girls in Hawaii and the Eskimos in Yukon and—no kidding—I'm for these Chicago girls—I mean THIS Chicago girl.

Wendell Hall looked nervously toward Missus Hall.

This Missus closed one eye. Wendell began to sing:

"Oh, I'm just a Southern—"

"Isn't he lovely?" cooed the bride.

FAMILIES OF STRIKERS ARE TO BE EVICTED

A FAIR PICKET

Beulah Pierce and Dorothy Foley, two of the many children who will be homeless if the Saxonville Mill carries out its threat to evict nine families next week from the house shown above.

WILL EVICT SIX FAMILIES IN SAXONVILLE

There will be a dramatic scene in the town of Saxonville tomorrow morning when Deputy Sheriff Walsh, accompanied by a detail of Framingham policemen and a band of furniture movers arrive to forcibly eject six families from their homes, which are owned by the Roxbury Carpet Company.

The ejection proceedings are being forced by Robert West, strike agent of the company, against persons who are on strike against wage cut and a stop clock working system installed in the Old Saxonville Mill on May 27.

INJUNCTION EXPIRES.

The eviction which takes place tomorrow morning marks the end of the injunction period granted against the Roxbury Carpet Company, which allowed the tenants to remain in their homes for two months.

The following families will be forced from their homes:

James Connors, wife and three children.
John Bianowski, wife and five children.
Edward Cusack, wife and five children.
John McCarthy, wife and three children.
Patrick Burke, wife and two children.
Charles Armstrong, wife and three children.

Probably one of the most trying cases is that of Armstrong, who was ordered to leave his home on July 23. A short time before his notice expired, scarlet fever developed in his home and he and his family were quarantined.

DAUGHTER IN HOSPITAL.

When the quarantine was removed he was again ordered to vacate his home. He now has a daughter lying in a plaster cast in the Framingham Hospital. He has been out on strike for five months. His family has subsisted only through the commissary in the Town Hall.

According to Armstrong, he appealed to West, who is termed the "Czar" and "professional strike-breaker," but that West's only answer to him was:

"You've had plenty of time to find a house despite the illness in your family."

Many others who are facing ejection in the near future have been lifelong residents of Saxonville and have worked in the mill all their life.

When an American reporter called on Mr. West in his well-appointed office in the big mill and asked whether or not he would enforce the action against the strikers, he replied that they had all been given ample opportunity to return to work and that the ejection proceedings were now in the hands of the court.

MANY ARE ILL.

In many cases where the ejection proceedings are to be forced there is sickness and the women and children are depending entirely upon the commissary set up by the American Federation of Labor for food.

BLACKMAILER DUPE ADMITS HER GUILT

Mrs. Abraham E. Livey, alias Eleanor Barnes, also known as Rose Pellose, pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy when arraigned before Judge Bishop in the Superior Criminal Court. She was ordered held in bonds of $1,000 for trial. Following her arraignment, she was closeted with District Attorney O'Brien for more than an hour.

It is believed that bonds will be forthcoming and that, despite her claim that she fears death from "the gang" in Boston, she will accept freedom and return to her home in New Jersey. After she was brought to Boston she gladly accepted the freedom given by confinement in the Charles street jail.

William J. Corcoran and others are involved in the charges against the Barnes woman. It is alleged they sought to extort money from Albert Victor Searles, heir of the late Albert Searles, eccentric millionaire recluse of Methuen.

JAILED FOR THREAT TO SHOOT E. BOSTON WOMAN

Rocco Daddio, sixty-nine years old, of No. 109 Marginal street, East Boston, threatened to shoot a neighbor, Mrs. Nellie Costello of No. 47 Haynes street, while labering under a delusion. In East Boston court today he was given six months in the House of Correction for the threat, and fined $100 for carrying an unlicensed weapon. Daddio appeared on the roof of his home last Friday and terrorized the neighborhood by flourishing a revolver. He later pointed it at Mrs. Costello at her home and threatened to kill her unless she produced a woman that he said she was hiding and who, he claimed, had robbed him.

DE COURCY LEFT ANOTHER WILL, SON ASSERTS

In View of Probable Contest, Special Administrators Are Named for the Estate

Indications of a contest of the will of the late Judge Charles A. DeCourcy of the Massachusetts Supreme Court were seen today when an appearance was filed in Suffolk Probate Court for his oldest son, Harold.

In view of a possible contest, Judge Dolan of the Probate Court appointed Mrs. Elizabeth M. DeCourcy, the widow, and Henry V. Cunningham as special administrators of the estate. They furnished a bond of $100,000 each with the U. S. Fidelity Co. of Maryland as surety.

The amount of the estate will not be known officially until the administrators file an inventory, but a memorandum on the back of the bond seems to show Judge DeCourcy left $450,000, all personal property.

It is rumored that Harold De Courcy believes his father made another will after the one now offered for probate which was executed in December, 1923. By the terms of this will, Judge John D. McLaughlin of the Superior Court and Henry V. Cunningham were named as trustees and ordered to pay Harold De Courcy $1,200 a year. Upon the death of his mother he will receive the income of one-third of the residue of the estate. His younger brother John, on the death of Mrs. De Courcy, is to have two-thirds of the income and the principal will be paid him when he is thirty-five years old. He is now in college.

Gave Big Sums to Campaign Fund of G. O. P.

Here are some of the big contributors to the G. O. P. fund, as reported at the Washington inquiry:

WOMAN LEAVES WEBSTER STATUE TO DARTMOUTH

Plymouth, Oct. 29.—The will of Ellen G. Soule of Hingham, filed today, leaves $1,000 each to the Third Congregational Society of Hingham, the Methodist Episcopal Church of Hingham and the Boston Y. M. C. A. The statue of Daniel Webster on her Hingham estate is left to Dartmouth College.

MASK START... PANIC ON CAR IN LYNN

Frightens Horse, Which Put Head Through Glass in Vestibule

A Hallowe'en mask, price five cents, caused damage amounting to several hundred dollars and intense excitement in the center of the business section of Lynn today.

Because of the mask there is listed in the record of the day's accidents the death of a horse whose throat was cut, the shattering of the glass in the front vestibule of a trolley car and a fright from which more than a score of Classical High School students will not recover for several days.

The mask was tossed about Washington street by every puff of wind. One gust lifted the cloth horror into the air and slapped it against the face of a horse that was attached to a wagon driven by Kune Hoffman of No. 45 Church street, Lynn. The animal whisked his head to one side, crashing it through the windows of the front vestibule of a passing one-man car, operated by William Stanchfield.

The car was filled with students on their way to school. The sudden and violent entrance of the horse's head threw the students into a panic and they rushed wildly about the car until the doors were opened, releasing them. The horse was shot.

BIG SHIFT TO CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Children's Caravan Exposes False Propaganda for Pittsfield Workers

Pittsfield, Oct. 29.—A tremendous change in sentiment on the question of the adoption by Massachusetts of the child labor amendment, which will appear on the ballot November 4 as referendum No. 7, has been brought about in the city and surrounding towns during the past twenty-four hours.

The change has been accomplished by the speakers in the "Children's Caravan," which is touring the entire State in the interest of the adoption of the amendment. During the twenty-four-hour stay of the speakers here they addressed approximately three thousand voters and distributed literature that will go into the hands of at least five thousand more persons and have injected added life to the battle here for the amendment.

MANY CONVERTED.

The situation in this section of the State up to the arrival of the caravan has been one in which there has been a feeling of doubt, almost a feeling of distrust, as far as the referendum No. 7 was concerned. The forces of the opposition to the amendment had sown their seed here, and had sown it well.

Among the farmer element the impression had been gained that the children after they returned home from school would not be permitted to do even light chores for their parents; that they would be compelled to live in abject idleness while the work would have to be done by the parents or others hired at great expense for the purpose.

Among the mill workers the opposition had also spread their propaganda.

UNTRUTHS REFUTED.

They have made the workers believe that the sons of widows could not be allowed to work until they had passed eighteen; that no child could be given a permit to work at the age of 16, as they are now allowed; and that federal inspectors would be dodging the footsteps of the workers night and day if the amendment were passed.

Mary Gordon Thompson, Wiley Swift, Miss Mildred Gutterson, Dr. Worth M. Tippy of New York, Fred L. Smith and others of the caravan speakers have done much to allay the fears of both farmers and mill workers on this matter.

In every instance where the speaker has addressed meetings the voters have applauded at the finish and have gone away from the meetings with expressions of approval of the proposed amendment such as these:

"Well, they didn't tell us that;" "those other birds must have been lying to us, for I believe Mary Thompson, she is one of us;" "I am going to vote for that amendment now;" "I am glad we have at last been told the truth;" "looks as though somebody has been trying to put something over on us;" "I believe what these people have told us, and I am going to vote for the amendment."

Twenty-four hours ago it is safe to say that not more than fifty per cent. of the voters, if that many, were in favor of the amendment. Today a big majority seems to have swing over in favor of the amendment.

"CHRISTIAN GENERAL" TO TALK NOT FIGHT

Peking, Oct. 29 (A.P.).—Efforts to arrange a peaceful understanding between General We Pei-Fu, deposed military head of the Peking government, and General Feng Yu-Hsiang, the "Christian General," were reported being made today by friends of General Wu. The prospect of success was considered doubtful.

President Tsao Kun was said to have sent word to General Wu that General Feng, who deposed Wu while directing a unit of the Peking army, that the "Christian General" wanted to talk, not to fight. General Wu replied that he was willing to talk peace after he had resumed control of affairs at Peking.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $5. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made syrup.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WOMAN ASPIRES TO BE GLOUCESTER MAYOR

Forty-two years!

That's what Miss Martha N. Brooks, candidate for mayor of Gloucester, meant when she put on her political cards the words:

"Old enough to have had seventeen years' experience both as worker and executive. Young enough to be alive to present day methods and needs."

Gloucester now concedes her an excellent chance to win at the polls in December, when her opponents will be Henry Parsons and Percy Wheeler, both forme mayors. If she wins she will be the first woman mayor in Massachusetts.

EARNEST EXECUTIVE.

Miss Brooks is an earnest executive who gives her full time to her present job of city councillor. As Gloucester is under the commission form of government, each of the four councillors is an executive with several departments to administer.

With the approaching end of the national campaign, she is ready to launch here.

"You can't fool the people—you don't have to if you are the real thing."

women, but because they are citizens. There would be less criticism if citizens would learn more about their government."

"Old enough to have 17 years' experience, both as worker and executive."

"I am going to the voters on a platform of law enforcement, sound finance, civic improvements and honest government. I intend to carry out the general policies of the present mayor, William MacInnes, who is retiring.

"I believe those who govern should take the public into their confidence. It will always be my policy to let the people know what their executives are doing.

"Young enough to be alive to present day methods and needs."

"I believe in improving the city, at the same time keeping within the bounds of economy. It is not impossible. We have put in many new street lights during my administration of the street lighting department, and we are getting 40 per cent. more lighting at less than 3 per cent. more cost.

"FORGET MY SEX."

"I don't want the people to think I am running for personal glory. I want them to forget my sex, to vote for me on my record and on my promises. My record shows that what I promise, I will do.

"Being in political life is simple. If one doesn't make false and impossible promises, and if one doesn't try to put on a false front. You cannot fool people, and you don't have to try, if you are the real thing.

"I wish more women would go into politics, not because they are women, but because they are citizens. There would be less criticism if citizens would learn more about their government."

"My policy is to let the people know what their executives are doing."

4 DEAD, 5 RESCUED IN SERIES OF GAS CASES

New York, Oct. 29.—Four deaths and five rescues were reported to the police in a series of illuminating gas cases. One woman, Rose Rotwa reported a suicide. Three men were overcome in rooming house. Three workmen of th Consolidated Gas Company were overcome while working in a trench. They were rescued. A woman and her one mouth-old infant were saved from death by the return of her daughter, Ida, 5, who called for help.

The appraiser, after examining your furniture in your home, gives you an estimate of the highest trade-in value your furniture has.

If you decide to accept, bring this estimate to our store, where it will be honored as cash on a cash transaction or as a partial payment on our budget plan.

Your old furniture will not be removed until after the new furniture has been delivered and set up in your home.

NOTE—Let it be understood that MORSE'S do not buy or sell Used Furniture—they only accept it in trade on the purchase of new furniture and DISPOSE OF IT OUTSIDE THE STORE.

2 Days for October's Clearance

Beginning Thursday Morning

Hundreds of Remnants, Hundreds of Odd Lots, Discontinued Styles. All Marked Down for a Quick 2 Days' Clearance

Sharp Reductions to Make Room for Holiday Goods

Not enough lots from all departments to hold our store-wide Month-End Sale. In some cases only one of a kind—or small groups—but reductions all the bigger on that account.

All the goods advertised were in stock when the announcement was sent to the newspapers. The lots being small and the prices greatly reduced, many lots will be sold out early in the day.

And this is a clearance: all sales are final, as usual.

Mail orders filled if we have the merchandise in stock when order is received. As lots are limited we cannot guarantee to fill all orders.

BRITISH WOMEN FLOCKING TO THE POLLS

Their Unusually Heavy Vote Adds to Uncertainty of Outcome

London, Oct. 29 (A.P.).—The women's vote, heavier than it had ever been before, according to reports received this afternoon at the headquarters of the three political parties, was the feature of the balloting in the British general election to chose a new Parliament.

As the day wore on official reports received by the three parties indicated that fully an 80 per cent. poll might be expected in a majority of the constituencies.

Party leaders admitted that the women's vote, an unknown quantity, added to the uncertainty as to the final outcome.

Although the campaign proper closed last night, political leaders continued to exhort the voters on behalf of their candidates at many impromptu meetings held today to catch the laggards.

Winston Churchill created something of a sensation in his division, Ox Epping, when he drove through out the entire constituency in a coach drawn by eight horses, decorated with blue streamers, and with a horn blowing merrily as his supporters shouted: "Vote for Churchill."

Union Jack Fails to Save Candidate From Attack

London, Oct. 29 (I.N.S.).—The first serious disorder in the British general election today was reported from the East End at noon. An automobile, flying the Union Jack, and bearing Captain E. M. Denny, was attacked and stoned. The chauffeur was wounded. Police drove off the attackers.

Steady Rainfall Affects Lady Astor's Campaign

Plymouth, Eng., Oct. 29. (A.P.)—For once Lady Astor was unlucky today in regard to election day weather conditions, rain falling steadily throughout the forenoon and at noon showing no signs of improving. Realizing the disadvantage imposed upon their chances by the rainfall, the Conservative campaign managers redoubled their efforts to induce reluctant voters to visit the polling booths despite the inclement weather. A fleet of motor cars was placed at the disposal of the voters.

Notable Group of Matrons to Assist at Big Rummage Sale

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE UNIQUE charity function comes and goes, but the rummage sale goes on forever.

Frequently society has found that the elaborately staged charity affair—though a huge success socially—doesn't exactly bring in such an overwhelming financial harvest. Too much time, money, effort has been wasted simply to achieve the distinctive.

Not so the good old rummage sale.

Given plenty of clothes in good condition, an abundance of feminine and masculine foorgear, a distracting array of toys for the youngsters, a table well-stacked with old books, and a counter offering a wide assortment of bric-a-brac—and ten to one, the coffers of your pet philanthropy will take on a mighty prosperous look.

A WEEK FROM tomorrow—November 5—a notable group of matrons are staging just such a sale for the benefit of a most deserving institution, the Free Hospital for Women.

At this affair—it's to take place in Horticultural Hall—Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., will look after a stall where all manner of attractive gowns will be sold. Her assistants will include handsome Mrs. George von L. Meyer, Jr., whose flashing smile should make her invaluable as a "saleslady" for the occasion, and dainty Mrs. Theodore Frothingham, Jr.

Mrs. Philip L. Saltonstall, Jr., and Miss Ruth Thayer will help Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs, Jr., at the counter where chapeaux may be purchased, and Mesdames John S. Codman and Howard Cooley will be at the tables for men's clothing.

A drapery department offers something a bit unusual, this under the direction of Mesdames Moses Williams, Jr., and Robert M. Tappan. Mrs. Horace Soule, Miss Alice Sargent and Mrs. Frederic L. W. Richardson will have their hands quite full doing duty at the bundle counter, while the bric-a-brac table has among its directors Mrs. Sumner Hollingsworth.

The committee asks that anyone wishing to donate to the sale kindly send any contributions to the Arlington Street Church, No. 321 Boylston street, up until Wednesday, the day before the sale.

ON MONDAY EVENING, the famous "diamond horse-shoe" of the Metropolitan Opera House will again offer the brilliant spectacle of the season's "first night."

Members of the fashionable world, not only of Gotham, but of Boston, Philadelphia and the capital will be there in all their sartorial splendor to listen to the Metropolitan artists sing their tragic way through "Aida," one of the most spectacular of all operas.

Among the boxholders for this fifty-first season at the Metropolitan are: Harold S. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Richard T. Wilson, the former Marion Mason of Boston, Harry C. Cushing, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Vincent Astor, Mrs.

N. Y. CENTRAL TO LEASE HUDSON RIVER R. R.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The New York Central Railroad applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to lease the property of the Hudson River Connecting Railroad Corporation. The new line will be ready for operation before the end of 1924, and will be about 157 miles in extent, including 110 miles of yard tracks and sidings.

Society News

MRS. RICHARD J. MONKS and her daughter, Miss Grace B. Monks will remain until Christmas at their Manchester Cove estate before returning to town for the rest of the Winter.

Mrs. Julian L. Coolidge of Cambridge was honor guest at the dinner given the other evening by Dr. and Mrs. William Norton Bullard at "Highwood," their Lenox Summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mrs. Hunt Slater and the latter's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Nelson Slater, were at the luncheon given by Dr. and Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite at Great Neck, L. I., for Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Henry L. Higginson is closing "Sunset Hill," her West Manchester place and returning to town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames, after a long season at Pride's Crossing, are making an Autumn stay at their North Easton estate before coming to the Winter residence on Commonwealth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burroughs of "Green Meadows" are among the Hamilton-Wenham folk remaining on the Shore till the end of the hunting season.

Mrs. Thomas P. Beal is opening her Gloucester street home this week after a season spent as usual at Beverly Cove.

enriches politicians and promoters. Therefore, in favor of prize fighting, laws against assault and battery are set aside. Ralph Thomaso, professional prize fighter, was knocked down in the second round last night. The blow that sent him to the floor killed him. That was a nice night's entertainment. But it's profitable, and therefore it's allowed.

SIMILARLY, if the little man gambles in his own little establishment, he is arrested. That offends morality. And the Constitution of the State of New York forbids gambling.

But rich men get a profit and amusement from the proceeds of gambling on their race tracks. Therefore race track gambling is allowed. It makes a difference who it is that wants to break the law.

FRANCE HAS MADE a treaty with Russia, and will do business with the Russians, all the business possible, regardless of the fact that the Bolshevik government has refused to pay billions of francs that the Czars borrowed from Frenchmen.

The French are intelligent. Instead of worrying about water that has run over the mill, they reach out to get Russian business for French workers and business men.

Our American "statesmen" might become less provincial if they would study the methods of France and England.

EMERSON SHOE SOLD TO FREEDMAN OF NEW YORK

Brockton, Oct. 29.—The story of the Emerson Shoe Company and the company's factory here, which has been closed since June 1, have been purchased by Edward Freedman, Inc., of New York, it was announced today. The sale is subject to ratification at a meeting of the Emerson Shoe Company November 5.

It was intimated that the factory would be reopened soon. It normally employs 1,000 persons.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and LaGrippe

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

BANKER G. C. LEE PAYS TAX OF $155,915

S. Hooper-Hooper Assessed $89.75; Lamond Turns in $30.77

George C. Lee of Lee, Higginson & Co., was the high scorer today in the income tax search under way at the office of Collector Nichols.

The collector's ledgers showed that the banker was assessed $155,915.81 as his 1924 income tax.

Samuel Hooper-Hooper, Boston's carillon leader, paid $89.75, while Arthur Lyman, attorney, was taxed $8,272.11.

Information concerning tax payments trickled slowly out of Collector Nichols' office for some inquirers, but twice as speedily for others.

Collector Nichols could not explain why some were able to obtain almost twice as much information as others represented at the table set aside for the use of persons seeking facts on income tax payments.

The most astounding revelation was the disclosure that James S. Lamont of Natick, former president of the defunct George F. Redmond & Co., Inc., brokerage house, was taxed to the amount of $39.77 as the result of his return.

DEALT IN MILLIONS.

And this although "Jimmy," as he was well known "in the street" before he and his associates of the Redmond Company ran afoul of the law, dealt in millions of money and talked in hundreds of thousands.

Lamont was sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the Plymouth jail by Judge Lowell in Federal Court following conviction of Lamont and his principal, George F. Redmond, on several counts of conspiracy and larceny.

Whether George F. Redmond himself paid an income tax at the Boston collector's office could not be ascertained.

Other income tax payments given out at Collector Nichols' office yesterday were as follows:

L. A. COOLIDGE $791.24.

Louis A. Coolidge erstwhile candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and director and officer of many corporations, $791.24; Eugene Buckley of Somerville, boxing commissioner, $54.88; Nathan Gordon, Brookline, theatrical magnate, $1,894.56; Susan G. Dexter deceased of Commonwealth avenue, wealth avenue, $8,371.11.

Joseph B. Ely, prominent attorney of Westfield and Democratic leader, was assessed $1,484.55; his father, Henry W. Ely, also an attorney, $1,192.32; Amory Eliot, Boston banker and financier, $11,511.31; Lester Leland, vice-president of the United States Rubber Company, $7,763.59; former Attorney-General Herbert Parker at Lancaster, $8,609.25; Winthrop Murray Crane of Dalton, son of the late Senator and G. O. P. leader, $28,545.45; Joseph C. Skinner

If You Are Thinking of Going to California You Will Want This Book. Cure Is Claimed For Tuberculosis By Scientist

Berlin, Oct. 29 (Universal).—Prof. Moellgaard, a Danish scientist, announces that he has discovered a new cure for tuberculosis. He calls it "sanocrysin."

A medical jury which has tried the remedy in Danish hospitals pronounced it a sensational success. Danish medical authorities predict the cure will be a turning point in the treatment of tuberculosis.

MAINE MYSTERY MAN.

In the state of Maine by far the greatest income tax for 1923 was paid by a man of whom comparatively little is known. He is William Bingham, whose legal residence is in Bethel, Me., and who paid $331,029.10 before the 25 per cent. deduction was made.

Bingham's business interests are in Cleveland, O., where he is associated with a trust company and has other large interests. He lives in Maine in summer.

Other legal residents of Maine whose income tax disclosures are interesting country-wide are:

F. Eugene Farnsworth, deposed Kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, $384.03 with his taxable income under investigation.

Governor Percival Baxter, $600.92. His salary is, of course, untaxable.

United States Senator Bert M. Fernald paid nothing.

United States Senator Frederick Hale paid $498.62.

Attorney W. R. Pattangall, defeated Democratic candidate for governor, was taxed $1,039.44.

Emma Eames, the opera star, of Bath paid $507.18.

Al B. Ricker, head of the Ricker family of Poland Springs, capitalist and presumed to be enormously wealthy, paid $1,032.82. The other three members of the family made non-taxable returns.

Kenneth L. Roberts, Saturday Evening Post writer, paid $1,307.77. J. Hopkins Smith, the author, paid $2,648.14.

Duchess of Manchester Pays Tax of $387

New York, Oct. 29.—Additional figures on 1923 Federal income taxes include:

Waldorf Astor, $32,551.

John Jacob Astor (In transfer for Wm. W. Astor), $32,551.

E. Cantor, $18,673.58.

Francis P. Garvin and wife, $113,676.

Mrs. Gen. James G. Harbord, $12,189.

Sir Harry Lauder, $11,085.

Duchess of Manchester, $387.

William W. Pell, $6,852.

Frank L. Polk, $40,925.

Helen Roosevelt Robinson, $14,794.

W. Emlen Roosevelt, $43,000.

Mortimer L. Schiff, $275,849.

Jennie Woolworth, $190,563.

V. Everet Macy, $106,111.

Junius S. Morgan, Jr., $77,404.

Felix M. Warburg, $353,883.

TAX LIST TEST TO BE MADE IN CINCINNATI

Attorney-General Stone Decide on Action to Settle Right of Publication

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 29.—The right of newspapers to publish income tax payments will be tested in Cincinnati.

Assistant United States Attorney Mau received a telegram today from the office of United States Attorney-General Stone stating that a decision had been reached to bring the case in this city.

Whether the alleged violation in this city by a newspaper will be taken before the Grand Jury or whether some other form of procedure will be followed is not divulged.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR CALLS ON COOLIDGE

Washington, Oct. 29.—Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador, called at the White House today to pay his respects to President Coolidge upon his return here from vacation. He presented J. A. M. Elder, the new Commissioner for Australia to this country, and General Sir John Hanbury-Williams, marshal of the diplomatic corps in London.

GILBERT, BAY STATE MAN, SUGGESTED FOR CABINET

Washington, Oct. 29 (I.N.S.)—A. W. Gilbert, secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, or Samuel Adams, of Illinois, would be acceptable to the Farmers' Union as Secretary of Agriculture to succeed Henry C. Wallace, President Coolidge was told today by Charles S. Barrett, president of the organization.

Barrett said the farmers wanted a man in the Agriculture Department who had viewpoints and resolutions in common with the great mass of farmers.

There isn't any spaghetti Heinz could buy that affords the pure wholesome quality and the flavor necessary to be made into Heinz Cooked Spaghetti.

So the dry spaghetti itself is made from the finest durum wheat in the Heinz kitchens. Then it is combined with a rare cheese—just right for the purpose—and with Heinz tomato sauce, then cooked in accordance with the recipe of a famous Italian chef.

That is why it is so wonderfully good. It comes to you cooked—ready to heat and serve.

'LOONEY GAS' VICTIMS NOW TOTAL FOUR

Another Patient Dies in a Straitjacket; 16 More Under Treatment

New York, Oct. 29.—The death list in the gas poisoning of workers in the research laboratory of the Rahway, N. J., plant of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey was increased to four by the death today of William Kresge, twenty-nine years old, of Elizabeth, N. J., in Reconstruction Hospital.

Before his death Kresge was placed in a straitjacket. The other victims of the gas who died were similarly affected.

Herbert Puson, also of Elizabeth, is in a critical condition. Fifteen other employes are in the same hospital in varying stages of illness produced by the gas.

FIND BULLET HOLE IN SLAIN WOMAN'S HOME

Oxford, N. J., Oct. 29.—State troopers and other officials investigating the murder of Mrs. Grace Beam Thomas of Rocky Run, whose body was found in an abandoned iron mine, revealed today that a bullet hole had been discovered in a window of the Thomas home. The husband, Frank Thomas is held without bail in the County Jail at Belvidere as a material witness.

'DISARMAMENT COST U. S. TOO MUCH'—MAYO

Japs Able to Take Philippines Any Time That They Wish, Says Retired Admiral

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The United States paid an enormous price to bring the Washington disarmament conference to a successful conclusion, said Rear Admiral H. T. Mayo, retired, in an address prepared for delivery today before the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"We surrendered command of the Western Pacific to Japan, now in absolute military command of those waters, able to take possession of Guam, where we undoubtedly should have a strong naval base, and the Philippines, whenever such action seems advisable," he said.

"Friendship betweennations is governed by self-interest. Jealousy of our wealth and prosperity is the prevailing feeling of other nations toward us. Most of them owe us money and would be very glad to concoct some scheme whereby their debt to us might be cancelled or repudiated."

American sacrifices in the World War more than all the other nations combined, he said, and deliberately placed herself in a position of inferiority in many respects.

"It is simply murder to send hastily raised and untrained men into modern warfare, even if provided with the latest in weapons and all modern appliances," he declared.

HOVEY ASSOCIATES TO HOLD DANCE TONIGHT

How Skinny Kids Can Grow Robust

Use McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets

Weak, undernourished, underweight boys and girls who are peevish, fretful and sickly need McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Cod Liver Oil would do just as well, but what parent would be so cruel as to give them the horrible nasty tasting, ill smelling stuff, when sugar coated cod liver oil tablets made by McCoy's Laboratories of New York are as easy to take as candy and won't upset their delicate stomachs.

There's more vitamines of the first class in cod liver oil than in anything else and for that reason thin, scraggly, sickly children commence to fill up and take on good healthy flesh after McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets have been taken for just a few days.

"The Hatless, backward boy needs McCoy's"

Be sure and ask any good druggist for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet, if you want your delicate children to become strong, robust and active.

For grown-ups they are just as wonderful—one woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks. 60 tablets 60 cents and if they don't put 5 pounds of good firm flesh on any thin man or woman in 30 days, get your money back.

Prosperity Planks in the National Platform

I've never heard so much talk about Planks, Platforms, Policies and Politics. Perhaps it's because there were no "Loud Speakers" four years ago, and now everybody is in the air. There's a Third Party in the field.

It seems to me as if there have been enough new Planks used in this Campaign to build a board walk to Russia,—but there are not many of us anxious to travel that way.

And this isn't the worst of it. When you think you've got it all straightened out in your own mind, the next man you meet tells you just how every State in the Union is going to vote.

This Political Prophet shows you why the Electoral College can't elect any candidate, and the House of Representatives and the Senate will pick out a President and Vice-President for you,—but even this wise man won't hazard a guess as to who will be in the White House when a befuddled Congress messes it up.

Everybody agrees that if Coolidge is not elected the whole question will be referred to Washington and thrown into a Congress that's made a reputation for blocs and blockheads.

They will use an old piece of machinery to elect a President, that was designed in 1801, when Jefferson rode to the Capitol on horseback.

This antiquated piece of Political machinery will be greased with Graft. Washington will be infested with Lobbyists, and the chances are you will get a President that's a cross between a Pacifist and a Pink Socialist.

Now I don't know how you feel about it, but I would like to know who I am voting for. I would like to have something to say about who is going to have this little job of President of the United States for the next four years.

We have just given Germany $100,000,000 to put them on their feet, and as far as I can find out conditions in the rest of Europe are getting better. I don't want to see this country get into trouble just as the others are getting out of it.

I would like to see the whole wide world happy and prosperous, but I am principally interested in four more years of Prosperity in the U. S. A.

I like Silence and Success better than Socialism and Sovietism. Brains mean more to Business than a Brainstorm. They produce results without making so much noise.

I prefer Coolidge to Chaos, and according to the present political situation there isn't any other choice in this election.

GEN. CROWDER ILL FROM COLD IN CUBA

Havana, Oct. 29.—General Enoch H. Crowder, the American Ambassador to Cuba, was forced to take to his bed in consequence of a severe cold which has caused congestion of the bronchial tubes. The Ambassador's condition, according to his physician, is not serious at present, but the patient must remain in bed for a few days in order to avoid possible complications.

STUDENTS ACQUITTED OF BETRAYING CLUB

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 29.—Three students of Kentucky University about whom rumors had centered relative to alleged efforts to dispose of Kentucky football signals prior to the game here with Washington and Lee were exonerated at a lengthy session of the men's student council of the university. Names of the three were not disclosed.

PRIZE STUDENT FINDS JOY IN LIFE'S BATTLE

Woman Who Won B. U. Honors Tells of Pleasure in Achievement

Behold the latest prescription for happiness: FIGHT!

It is the recipe prescribed by Mrs. Anna D. Wood, junior at the Boston University College of Business Administration, whose award of a medal for having attained the highest academic standing in her class of three hundred, most of whom are men, was for the first time made known today.

Anna Wood

"The fight is the thing, after all" is her declaration.

But when Mrs. Wood says "fight," she infers neither international nor domestic strife. Far from it! What she means is the struggle necessary to achievement.

JOY IN ACHIEVEMENT.

"Ask any successful man you know," asserts Mrs. Wood, "and he will tell you that his greatest happiness lies not in the fame and enjoyment of his earned competence, but in the struggle and heart-breaking efforts of achievement."

In expressing this belief, Mrs. Wood reviews the sentiment once expressed by Emma Goldman, anarchist deported to Russia. "The real joy of life lies in climbing rather than in reaching the top," this woman wrote at one time.

Except that they share this view in common, the two part company, for Mrs. Wood has no sympathy for the man or woman who preaches that Wall Street runs the United States, and success impossible without its nod.

"The statement that the modern individual is a down-trodden serf is an insidious fallacy. The youth who has not yet learned to do his own thinking may be befuddled into the conviction that he is the victim of a despotic social system. The fearless, fighting person rejects these utterances and, by his own accomplishments, proves them untrue."

SHE PREACHES.

"The youth of today must realize that the zest of life comes in accomplishing things, not in wealth or idleness."

Mrs. Wood puts her doctrine of strenuous endeavor into daily practice. Besides winning honors in college, she keeps house and performs all the ordinary duties which keep the average housewife busy pretty much of the day.

QUALITY— at a Low Price

is what we all want. But in curtains and overdrapes we must have good appearance—evident quality—or our whole house will suffer.

This year Bedford gives us

A New Quality Fabric for Draperies at less than One Dollar a Yard

Its silky two-toned lustre is a challenge. Its beauty of texture and coloring are a revelation at first glance. Yet it is a wash fabric, fadeless and with hard wear to it; it is made of the finest cotton, grown only on special soil and woven with the utmost nicety of detail. Only the kind of genius that is "the capacity for taking infinite pains" could have produced it.

This two-toned fabric does not differ from other colored Bedford voiles except in its effect, produced in some way by the blending of the two colors in the texture of the weave. It looks like silk, not voile. It creates an illusion that you enjoy because it makes your home more lovely. Yet it keeps a certain dignity and restraint and never loses, in any light, under any circumstances, its glow of quality.

This week will be especially devoted to displaying these fabrics, with the curtains and draperies that can be made from them. These can be ordered to measure if desired, or the material can be bought by the yard (at 95c a yard). We are purposely not describing the colorings, as they are varied enough to cover most needs—and if you aren't already familiar with them we would rather have you see them for yourself.

GIRLS LIFT BAN ON MEN AT PARTY

The girls of Russell Sage College, exclusive college for young women, have decided that men are a very essential constituent of a real good time!

It came out in a rather sudden but none the less manifestation of the way.

Several weeks ago the [illegible] mates of the College of [illegible] Arts and Letters [illegible] known as the College [illegible] Science and Letters [illegible] as "PAL," planned to give a [illegible]clusive" Hallowe'en party—exclusive of men.

What happened between then and now is not altogether known, nor very important. The significant fact is that the Hallowe'en party has been abandoned and in its place has been substituted an open dormitory dance which will be held October 31 in the college building and to which [illegible] mentioned "essential constituent" will be admitted on payment of [illegible] admission fee.

[illegible] advantages one would want [illegible] when it comes to having a good time—well, [illegible] prefer to have men around. To which question PAL" [illegible] answered in the affirmative, even as you and I.

MELROSE HALL IS SINKING

Prop Building to Keep It Out of Pond; Divers to Lay New Foundation

Gangs of men today were rushed to Memorial Hall, Melrose, the municipal hall built as a memorial to Civil War soldiers, to prop up the rear of the building which was settling dangerously.

Divers at the building had settled several inches into the bed of an old pond resulted in the temporary condemning of the structure by Building Commissioner Augustus Marshall.

The ban on the building, occupied heavily and utilized almost every night by social and fraternal organizations, who hire it for entertainments, may be lifted before long.

Workmen today began to place a [illegible] foundation under the rear of the structure. Caissons will be [illegible] deep [illegible] ing employed in that work, which [illegible] to cost $5,000 or $6,000.

The hall contains a $100,000 organ chamber and a kitchen and dining room. When it was built, a small pond in the rear was filled in and the rear founda[illegible] placed on piles driven into the made land.

The builders, however, never were able to strike a solid strata with the piles and this time caissons will be used.

CANADIAN MAIL CLERK FOILS $1,000,000 THEFT

Moose Jaw, Sask., Oct. 29.—A million dollar mail robbery was frustrated here by the presence of mind of a railway clerk.

The robber entered the Moose Jaw post office and covered the clerk, Walter G. MacPherson, with a gun as he was examining a mail sack containing many thousands of dollars, whose value officials estimated at more than a million dollars. He ordered out of the building onto a rear platform.

MacPherson rushed him and pushed him from the platform. Gaining possession of the mail bag, the clerk fled.

GARDNER FACTORY FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF $18,000

Gardner, Oct. 29.—The Hotel Colonial and nearby dwelling houses were menaced by a fire in the wood-en factory building of the Gardner Manufacturing Company here early today.

The fire was brought under control quickly, however, and the damage was confined to $10,000 in stock and $8,000 to the building. Police [illegible] arrest an [illegible] daubing of [illegible] today.

INFLUENCE OF THIRD POLITICAL PARTY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A THIRD party has never been successful in the United States. Its influence, however, has been considerable.

A record of some of the third parties that have flourished previously, and have appeared and disappeared at various times in American history, has been given by a recent writer and is interesting.

"The Anti-Renters were a New York organization which flourished about 1841. They resisted the collection of back rents on the Van Rensselaer manor near Albany. They had strength enough to defeat Wright, the regular Democratic candidate for Governor of New York.

"The Barn-burners, New York, 1846, were seceders from the Democratic party. They were opposed to slavery extension. The Bucktails were another New York party and supported Madison for the presidency.

"The Conservatives, in New York and several other States, were paper money Democrats and in the [illegible] prime in 1837. To the Doughfaces belonged the Northern members of Congress who voted for the Missouri Compromise.

"The Know-Nothings, New York, 1854, were opposed to the naturalization of foreigners who had not lived at least twenty-one years in the United States.

"The Loco-Focos, New York, 1835, were a branch of the Democratic party.

"The Liberal Republicans, 1872, were those who joined with the Democrats in support of Greeley for President."

Roosevelt headed a third party, but was unsuccessful.

Just what will be the result of the La Follette third party, is yet to be seen.

WHY SOME PEOPLE ARE "FRIGHTENED TO DEATH"

YOUR nervous system is the vital force that controls, directs and gives energy to every organ and every muscle. Some of the power of the nerves to [illegible] such as fear, [illegible]

A lesser nerve [illegible] blanch the cheeks, make the knees tremble, cause the heart to beat wildly or a most paralyzing breathing.

To sustain our vitality we must nourish the nervous system. When we restore lost nerve power we find ourselves filled with new strength.

Nervous, exhausted men and women can quickly regain their nerve power. As they rebuild their nerves they soon see the signs of returning vitality.

Wincarnis gives to the nerves the very elements they must have to be nourished back to energy. For fifty years it's nerve restorative and strength giver has recognized those who were [illegible] week, thin, pale and so easily discouraged that life seemed scarcely to hold any real happiness.

If you are lacking in vital nerve force, go to your druggist today and begin the safe Wincarnis treatment. A 12½ ounce bottle, which is a ten days Wincarnis treatment, is sold for $1.10 by all leading druggists. Double size, $1.85. Wincarnis is so effective that only three tablespoonfuls a day need be taken. Try Wincarnis and see the difference just a few days will bring.

DAVIS PLEDGES RELIEF FOR FARMERS

Cites Democratic Program to Put Agriculture on an Even Footing

New York, Oct 29 (I.N.S.)—Restoration of normal living conditions among the farmers of America is the outstanding economic issue of the final presidential campaign, John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee, declared today in the second of a series of campaign statements.

Davis pledged himself and the Democratic party to use every governmental power if elected in placing agriculture upon an equal economic footing with industry. He also renewed his promise of farm relief that he contended, would bring back permanent prosperity to the farming interests.

The governor's message will carry him into Brooklyn tonight for a speech at the Academy of Music. He will speak in Jersey City, Paterson and Hoboken in New York and will close his campaign Saturday night with a speech at Madison Square Garden.

He cited the Democratic platform for the farmers as follows:

1—A pledge to reduce taxation and for strict governmental economy.

2—A revision downward of the tariff.

3—Development of lower rail and water freight rates.

4—Completion of internal waterways systems and development of water powers for cheaper fertilizer.

5—Stimulation of cooperative marketing by governmental assistance, with creation of an export marketing corporation.

6—Extensions of farm credits.

7—Adoption of an international policy that will reopen foreign markets for American goods.

Vice Presidential Candidate Wheeler, speaking at Jackson, Mich., declared: "We haven't yet more than scratched the surface of corruption in the Coolidge administration."

JOSEPH WALKER OUT FOR DAVIS AND FULLER

Joseph Walker, former Speaker of the House, one-time "Bull Mooser" who returned to the G. O. P. fold and who was candidate two years ago for the Republican nomination for senator against Lodge, announced today that he will support John W. Davis, Democrat, for President.

Former Speaker Walker announced that while he will go Democratic in the national end of the election, he will support the Republican ticket in the State.

Two years ago Walker polled 88,000 votes in opposing Senator Lodge, while Lodge received 209,000 votes.

The first question raised by Republicans today, following Walker's startling announcement, was as to what part of Walker's 88,000 following of two years ago would follow his lead this time.

Walker's desertion is brought about, he declared, through the shielding of President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes to the "bitter enders."

"They have allowed the Republican party to be committed to the principle against the League of Nations," he said.

The former Speaker declared he cannot, conscientiously support Coolidge.

SPIRIT OF HAUGHTON WILL ENABLE COLUMBIA TO CARRY ON

TEAM HAS VICTORY SYSTEM

By NICK FLATLEY.

THE death of Percy Haughton has cast a gloom over the football world that is a wonderful tribute to memory of P. D. H. . . . the biggest man in the game . . . as big as the game. He did . . . constructive work for . . . sport—it was always . . . him, not a business—. . . individual ever did.

He was a genius . . . even more of a . . . organizer. He . . . own gold . . . laws that . . . Every . . . made to . . . a rule . . . was . . . and . . . perfect. . . . college game . . . long time before . . . He . . . appears to help . . .

HAUGHTON, in a couple of years, had . . . one of . . . in the . . . His coaching . . . a fundamental . . . game every . . .

He met . . . have been . . . to his pupils. He . . . first football player . . . the . . . art of kicking and . . . to use. He did it himself . . . He was a player at Harvard . . . then he made all his great . . . teams follow suit. He will be missed sorely over at Cambridge . . . time he would have been back . . . sooner or later, as general . . . of athletics . . .

WE got to know P. D. quite well while he was owning . . . Braves and he was one of the most interesting and versatile . . . Tilden wasn't a thing he couldn't do and do it well. He had a reputation for being brusque . . . but that sort of thing, but it was entirely wrong. There never was a thing he wouldn't explain, if . . . and his explanations always . . . the original and interesting . . . that make perfect newspaper . . . His Columbia team was . . . ing at the height. It will . . . one to be proud of. The Haughton . . . system was always that. But it will . . . a dynamic driving power.

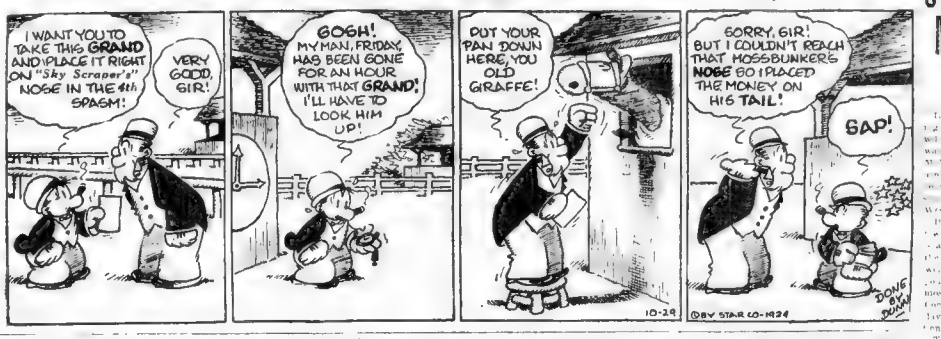
Moe and Joe They Get the Dough--Sometimes

Moe tried to slip over another 10 to 1 shot yesterday, but he was two places out of the way. He slapped his jack on White Wash and the flounder's stable mate dropped into the third slot, paying 8 to 5 to peep. Fair enough. Today Moe is plunging on an apple picked from the tree by Jack McCauley. Cash in kick, $26,385.21.



SHARKEY AND MALONEY ARE IN TRAINING

I . . . can . . . do . . . get excited. It . . . means . . . of . . . Sharkey and . . . Maloney . . . are rated a . . . bout . . . for New England fans . . . Sharkey and Maloney are rated a . . . bout . . . for New England fans . . . Maloney . . . in act, either of these . . . has the ability to defeat . . . of the heavyweight contender. Consequently the winner of Wednesday night's . . . will be in a position to step into the big money.

The veteran Jack (Twin) Sullivan of Cambridge and Battling M. Creary are working out each day with Sharkey. Sullivan is teaching the Roxbury youngster the fine points of the Celtic game. McCreary is taking the heavy socks. Sharkey . . . a scuff at Al Delmont's Gym on Hanover street.

. . . preparing for the . . . match at Kelly and Hayes' Gym. He . . . out with Tom Kerr and a . . . of other sparring partners.

Drab Days for the East

Effete Sections Forced to Admit Gradual Dwindling of Their Vaunted Football Supremacy.

IT has come gradually but surely and now it has reached a crux—the East no longer rules the country in football. The West has been coming along with mighty strides. It is not now a matter of guesswork, this claim that one team is better than another. Intersectional games have removed the doubt of it all. The West has arrived.

Notre Dame has done much to help along this process, and will do more. So has Chicago and so has Iowa. They, too, will do more.

Notre Dame trounced the Army and followed this up with a 12-to-0 victory over the mighty Princeton Tigers. The Rockne legion of followers believe almost anything is possible that Knute puts his hand to.

Chicago's victory over Brown and Yale's last minute victory over the Bears gives the grid fan a fine line on Western football.

If the East isn't actually fading, then the West is looming amazingly.

BOB FITZ, JR., FLOORS BURKE; BRITTON BEATS ROBINSON

By JACK CONWAY

YOUNG BOB FITZSIMMONS, tall and rangy like his illustrious father, stepped Joe Burke of Detroit in three rounds at the Commercial A. C.'s show at Mechanics Building. Referee Johnny Brasil halted festivities when Burke was hopelessly outclassed and on the verge of passing out of the picture.

A terrific left hook to the jaw in the first round caused the downfall of Burke. At the time the Detroit warrior was battling hard, lasting ponderous left and right-hand blows fly through the air in the general direction of Fitzsimmons. After the left hook crashed on Burke's jaw, he lost his fire and desire for battle. He held Young Bob much like a drowning man clutches at the proverbial straw. This naturally alowed up the contest and made Fitzsimmons' job more difficult.

Bob, Jr. is a fine boxer fast and shifty. He doesn't punch nearly as hard as his father did, but he is still good enough to polish off most of the big bruisers who lain they are going to wade Jack Dempsey some day.

BILLY BRITTON, middleweight from Kansas, was the sensation of the show. He won over Gaspar Robinson veteran Cambridge warrior, after eight furious rounds of battling. Britton is a terrific puncher as he proved when he spoiled Robinson's mug on the canvas in the second round. The knockdown aroused Robinson's fighting spirit as he regained his feet immediately and clouted Britton on the chin with a right hand chop.

Britton forced the milling in most of the rounds. He landed crushing blows to the body and head. He also appeared able to take a smash. He is one of the most promising middleweights to show in this city in a long time. Messrs. McKirdy and Mack of the Commercial Club apparently have unearthed a "find."

WILLIE GRADWELL of Somerville was awarded a close decision over Sammy Marco of Montreal in a ten-round setto. Marco had a decided margin in the early rounds. Gradwell then coming strong made a fine finish. The . . . was close that many of . . . thought Marco and . . . and Lincolnshire after the match. Both boys were signed to box . . . return go at Lowell two weeks from tomorrow night.

IN the opening ten-round session, Tommy Murray of Philadelphia outpointed Johnny Cuthbert of England.

Chick Biggs, New England bantamweight champion, was . . . dered. It was announced that he would meet Danny Kramer of Philadelphia at the Commercial A. C. . . . week.

Hoppe Defeats Copulos

Detroit, Oct. 29.—Willie Hoppe defeated Gus Copulos in their 300 point three-cushion billiards match here, 300 to 172, in 137 innings.

Hoppe took the lead in the third block played when he scored 66 points to 32 for his opponent. He also took the other block 50 to 40 in 45 innings. Hoppe's high run for the series was 8, while Copulos . . . a cluster of 10.

WALKER CHOICE IN BOUT WITH MALONE

By RINGSIDE

Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion will have the chance Joe Malone of St. Paul as an opponent in a ten-round no-decision bout at Newark, N. J., tonight. This bout is of particular interest to the fans of Boston and New England on account of the fact that both Walker and Malone have done some of their best fighting in this city.

It will be the second meeting between these illustrious ringsters. They battled for the Arena A. C. of this city a couple of years ago, Malone winning the decision. On that occasion the mixers of Malone proved first methods and wins . . . Walker. The latter seated at the time that he was suffering from the effects of an attack of pleurisy . . . A few months later Walker won the world's welterweight championship by defeating Jack Britton in New York.

Walker, a youth of twenty-five, is one of our few real champions. Like Dempsey, he stands head and shoulders over the other members of his . . . class.

In his last start, Walker knocked out Bobby Barrett of Philadelphia. Prior to that encounter he was . . . Lew Tendler.

Walker will . . . to put over the big smash tonight and will enter the ring a favorite. Malone will depend upon his . . . and speed to hold off Mickey's rushes much like he did in their encounter at the Arena.

B. C. Warriors Make Ready for Haskell Indian Attack

Haskell is on the way, ready to afford Boston fans the most colorful battle that has been seen at Braves Field in many a moon.

The Eagle is preening its feathers with care for the coming melee, and is not over confident of victory. Coach Cavanaugh is putting his men through the hardest week of their lives, with daily scrimmage a grim affair.

The team is fighting mad, and eager to display the finest football imaginable against the Indian tribe.

The line is now practically whipped into shape. Yesterday's scrimmage found O'Neil and O'Connell at ends, Captain Kvalowsky and Tom O'Brien, tackles, McManus and Donahue, guards, and Doyle, center.

The regular backfield will start that is to say, Darling, Ward, Bill Cronin and McKinney.

Cavanaugh believes that the Eagle forward passing attack, Darling to O'Connell or McKinney will prove in every way as powerful as that employed by Carpenter and Levi of the Huskers.

Latest Golf Feat; Sarazen Holes in 1 by Electric Light

Briarcliff, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The one topic of conversation today about Briar Cliff Lodge was over the way in which Gene Sarazen, formerly national open golf champion, played a hole in one under artificial light at night.

Nearly 10,000 persons saw the first night foursome to be played. A 4,000,000 candle-power searchlight illuminated the course. Sarazen drove over the first hole of the lodge course, 240 yards, to the green, where the ball took the cup. It's a par three hole.

AMATEUR RING STARS AT DILBOY POST SHOW

One of the best entry lists ever received for any of its amateur tournament, is in store for the followers of the amateur pugilistic code on Thursday evening, when the Dilboy Post, V. F. W., stages its regular tournament consisting of the following classes, 118, 126, 135, 147 and 160 pounds, according to Fred Ruase, Chairman of the Boxing Committee.

Entries from . . . best boys in each of the above . . . are being received from . . . and . . . and from . . . and . . . for top honors in each . . .

St. James to Play B. U. '28

Haverhill, Oct. 29.—St. James High today secured Boston University freshman for a football game here Saturday. Michael Lucinski, who played on Haverhill High last season, is the captain of the Boston University yearlings.

ROPER CUTS SCRIMMAGE FOR BALANCE OF SEASON

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 29.—Coach Bill Roper has started the Tigers pointing for the Swarthmore and Harvard games in earnest.

The day's program, however, does not include regular scrimmage, which the Tiger mentor intends to eliminate for the rest of the season. "I don't want to take any more chances on injuries," explained Coach Roper, "and I think it best to get . . . as near a full suit of fine . . . reached signal d . . .

Grace Army Coach

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 29.—F. J. Grace of Irvington, Ont., has been engaged to coach the Army's lacrosse squad. The Cadets have a strong schedule for the Spring season, the chief contest being that with the Navy, which will be played at Annapolis.

HARVARD OUTLOOK BRIGHT DESPITE DARTMOUTH DEFEAT

WILL HAVE BEST TEAM SINCE WAR

By HERBERT REED
("Right Wing.")

Despite the defeat at the hands of Dartmouth's well advanced eleven Harvard's prospects are far from unsatisfactory in this year of change in Crimson methods.

Herbert Reed.

The coaches were not dissatisfied with the showing against the Green, realizing that only superb play by one man stood in the way of at least a tie and probably a victory.

The Crimson could not pass Dooley and that was all there was to it.

Dartmouth's keen football rather overshadowed an exhibition of gridiron work that was far and away better than that shown last season, and if the Crimson, very slowly developing team, continues to improve, they should be the best eleven at Cambridge since the war.

LOOKS LIKE DOBIE.

"What's new in the East?" in quires a correspondent. Well, Harvard's type of play is new to Harvard at any rate, and this same type, a direct result of the influence of men like Warner and Dobie, and to a lesser extent Rockne, is spreading rapidly.

Just at present the Harvard attack and the Harvard defense look more like the Dobie style than anything else, and while one may approve the offense, the defense, while very strong in some respects, seems to be fundamentally weaker in others than those of some former Harvard elevens.

There is plenty of basis for the belief that Harvard will show plenty of speed and power when Fisher's men meet Princeton and Yale.

There is at hand a backfield just about as fast as that of Notre Dame, with much more power, and better equipped for the kicking game.

Miller is a track man, consistent by good for 10 1-5 seconds, although he weighs 205 pounds. Gilchrist weighs 190 and Hammond the same. Both are very fast.

SPALDING GOOD GENERAL.

Spalding at quarter is a good signal man and runs his team well. He also can run with the ball. Mc Clave would be there regularly were it not for a knee injury that makes it difficult to send up more than all the game under sharp tackling.

Zuravkov is a fine open field runner, and there are plenty of other backs who can fit into the combination nicely.

The attack shows unmistakably the Dobie influence, going inside, outside or over the tackle. The technique is almost exactly that of Dobie.

The guards swing out into the interference, and the unit line is less employed than in any previous year.

The attack has not been as far advanced as that of Dartmouth, but is rich in possibilities. This is supported by really great punting. So far little in the drop-kicking line has been shown.

The forward passes are only fair, probably the best one being a flat pass to the quarterback, which has not yet shown a high percentage of success. It was just good enough, however, to defeat Holy Cross.

SEVEN MEN IN LINE.

On defense the team has also been Dobeyized; and here is where apparent weakness crops out.

The ends and tackles go in to hurry passes and kicks and to develop the play, which, in my opinion, is good always, but the close-up "box" defense behind the line is not so comforting.

There are seven men on the line, two backs close up and two twenty-five yards back. The centre drops out of his position only occasionally.

There is unmistakable weakness here, even though it is in high favor both by Cornell and Pennsylvania.

The tackles and ends are only fair just now, with Greenough the big exception, but the whole line is of the fighting variety that is apt to come fast and far toward the close of the season.

The slow development is in keeping with the old Harvard system. "Thus far shalt thou go this week and no farther," is the rule. However, it ought to be far away a stronger eleven than the one to face the Tigers a year ago.

MANY GRID STARS ON TRADE SCHOOL TEAM

HAWKEYE SQUAD OUT TO HALT 'RED' GRANGE

Chicago, Oct. 29—The outstanding western conference football game this week—the Illinois-Iowa contest at Urbana, Ill.—will see a pupil summoning all that he learned under a veteran mentor and all his own strategy in a great attempt to down the greatest player of many stars developed by the older coach.

Burt Ingwerson, who replaced Howard Jones at Iowa after stellar playing on the Illinois eleven and two years as freshman coach at Urbana, is pointing his Hawkeye charges towards their great task of stopping "Red" Grange and his ten helpers in the plays taught by little Bob Zuppke.

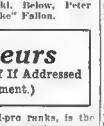
Semi-Pros-Amateurs

(Replies to Challenges Will Be Taken Care of If Addressed to Boston American Sporting Department.)

ONE of the strongest gridiron teams in the semi-pro ranks, is the Weymouth Town aggregation, which has been cutting some figure since the rising of the curtain on the football stage.

George Curtain



Frank Mauro

On the line are some very capable players including, Tirrell, W. McKenna, Horgan, Bill Hannaford, Smith, Holter, K. G. Butler, N. Butler, Knowles, Smith and Crohan. The backfield finds George Curtain and Mauro directing off the signals, while the rest of the backs include Capt. Frank Mauro, Lenergan, Dwyer, Green, Blenkhorn, Toner and Valicenti.

• • •

The South Boston Independents, commonly known as the Wildcats, would like to fill a few open dates on their schedule, challenging the fastest teams in the State. Call Dick Dunn, So Boston 0111-M, or write Dick Mills, No. 40 Middle street, South Boston. Games preferred away from home.

Gridiron Notes

Two of a kind running wild is all that Coach Whelan of Boston University needs. To date he has failed to secure a couple of good ends.

Amherst will feel the loss of Drew, the star halfback, on Saturday when they clash with the Aggies. Drew will be out a couple of weeks.

• • •

The Military Academy's chief aim is to beat the Yale Bulldog on Saturday at New Haven. Both outfits mastered the fine arts of gridiron tactics.

Coach Baldwin of Lehigh will not take any chances with Yeager, his 237 pound tackle, this week-end. The leader of the Pennsylvania aggregation is saving the heavy lad for the battle with Holy Cross.

The weakness of the Jumbo line has started Eddie Casey worrying. Eddie hopes to iron out the kinks before the game with Wesleyan at Middletown, which is the next tussle.

Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago believes that Grange's success is due his outgoing ing his would-be tackles, and Stagg should know.

Jess Hawley can smile when he realizes that his big Green squad will be all clear from the Sick Bay before their big game with Brown on Saturday's matinee card. Oberlander, Holleran and Whittaker are suffering from minor ills that will be easily forgotten.

• • •

The disqualifying of the four midshipmen, Shapeley, Flippin, Lentz and Osbourne will do more to back slide the Naval Academy eleven than any opponent so far this season. Their exit along with two defeats will give the Army mule plenty of kick.

• • •

Cleo O'Donnell is slashing away at the Holy Cross line, which has failed to come up to expectations. Their showing against Fordham was far from being right.

• • •

The Norwich eleven has no game on the schedule for this week, but will devote its time to stiff practice for their three remaining games with Middlebury, Vermont and West Point coming right in a row.

• • •

Lou Oslin will more than likely be sent in to fill the vacancy left by Sam Donatelli in the backfield of the City College of New York eleven. The latter will not play for Tom Thorpe again this season, having suffered a broken leg.

Another eleven to suffer the loss of a star is Fordham. Captain Raymond Smead fractured a bone in his leg during a scrimmage in the game with the R. C. at Worcester.

Coach Blake, of Exeter, will have a tough job on his hands developing a new quarter for Saturday's game with Worcester Academy. O'Donnell, Ellis and Healy, his trio of signal shouters, will be on the sidelines.

• • •

The Haskell Indians did a little turn with the Notre Dame team at South Bend, Indiana, and they learned a trick or two looking over Rockne's charges. They will take a look at Niagara Falls as they speed toward the East today.

Bell Crimson Captain

Dudley Bell, former Exeter Academy player, was elected captain of this year's Harvard Freshman eleven. Bell is playing center for the Crimson cubs, the same position at which he excelled at the New Hampshire school.

TRADE SCHOOL SETTING PACE IN SPORTS

By FRED C. LANE

The steady advance made by Boston Trade School in athletics is the talk of scholastic circles this year. Just when conditions looked dubious for the advancement of city high school sports, Trade comes to the front and out of sight the pilot on this statement is based on the achievements of Coach Harry Tilton and his Trade school athletes since 1919, when sports were first taken up. Study schedules interfered with athletics in general up to this time.

Reading that the lads of Trade School were entitled to the same consideration as boys of other Boston schools, Athletic Director Nat Young made arrangements by which they were given a chance to compete with their fellow students.

The lads came out strong, but the games were all new and they proved easy victims. In fact, the first three games were lost by scores of 75 to 0 or thereabouts.

Such was not the condition the next year. Trade was learning the game. Coaches of rival schools could see the improvement in their team play. They proved tartars in '20. That year they held Last Boston High to a tie game and Last Boston won the District High championship the preceding season.

The team gradually improved and finally won the District High School title in 1923. The team was strong and feared by all schools. To date they have not been scored on. In fact, their goal line has not been crossed since last October.

They have tied English and Dorchester, two of the strongest teams in the City League, of which circuit Trade is now a member, having been promoted to faster company and look good to capture the city title.

Football is the leading sport but many of the boys are found taking part in all lines of sport. Track ranks second to football in popularity. Many a promising runner has been developed by Coach Tilton since he took over the coaching reins.

His one lap senior relay team set up a record at last season's indoor meet that will stand for some time. Lavone Williams circled the 100-yard outdoor record with mark of 10.2 seconds. Herman Cochran, as a senior, broke all hurdle records, both indoor and on the cinders.

Dutch Ayer Out as Somerville Coach

Arthur "Dutch" Ayer is through as football coach at Somerville High. Edward "Skip" Sherlock, former Commerce High coach, took charge at Somerville yesterday.

The coaching change came as no surprise. In fact, it has been expected all along. Ayer's disciplining which caused many players to absent themselves from practice has been the cause of a football war in Somerville.

FEATHERWEIGHT TOURNEY STARTS IN N. Y. NOV. 21

New York, Oct. 29—The opening round of an elimination tournament to determine a successor to Johnny Dundee as world's featherweight champion will be held in Madison Square Garden November 21, with six contenders appearing in three 10-round bouts.

The six contenders are Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn.; Bobby Garcia of Camp Holabird, Md.; Lou Paluso of Salt Lake City; Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill.; Danny Kramer of Philadelphia and Jose Lombardo of Panama.

McKenney Hurt Again

Joe McKenney, the Boston College quarterback, hurt his "bad" shoulder in a heavy scrimmage at University Heights yesterday and may be out of the Haskell game Saturday.

CASEY HAS NEW GRID WAR CRY FOR TUFTS

Hit 'em, and hit 'em low, is Eddie Casey's new war cry at Tufts College.

After dropping games to Middlebury and New Hampshire Tufts faces Wesleyan this week-end at Middletown.

Hampered by a lack of scrimmage, Coach Casey will not be permitted to make scouting expeditions for the Wesleyan game. Nate Share, Jack Wilson and Irvin Tye, the outstanding Brown and Blue linemen all need a rest.

The Tufts backfield quartet weakened in the second half of the New Hampshire game last Saturday. Van French, Harold McDonell and George Perry all failed to make an impression, however.

Wesleyan will be represented by a heavy and powerful machine. The odds greatly favor the Nutmeg Staters against Tufts. The line averages 185 pounds from tackle to tackle, while Hall and Dalton, guards, weigh well above the 200 mark.

Captain Howard at halfback is a wonderful kicker and passer and his work in the Weslevan backfield has been up to standard.

SHAKE-UP LIKELY IN PRESIDENTS' BACKFIELD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29—The Washington and Jefferson football athletes came through the Lafayette struggle with Lafayette in New York in good physical condition.

As a result of the showing of the Presidents in the Lafayette game, it is likely that there will be a shake up, especially in the backfield. Hank Harmony and Lee, who played so well when they were sent into the contest against the Maroons, are sure to get a trial here to show their worth next Saturday when Detroit University comes here. The game is to be played at Detroit.

YALE DRILLS ON DEFENCE AGAINST ATTACK OF ARMY

New Haven, Oct. 29.—Defensive drill was emphasized by the Yale varsity in their opening scrimmage of the week. Four times the scrubs were given the ball at the regulars' 20 yard stripe and once the reserves succeeded in counting. Jim Alexander lifted it over the crossbar on the fourth down. They failed to penetrate the 10 yard line.

Dorchester Tops English

Dorchester High's eleven leaped up in the High league table on defeating a very drowsy English High team 6 to 0 at Braves Field yesterday afternoon. Dorchester's lone score came in the second period when Captain Ryan broke through the English line and blocked a punt behind the goal line. Ryan fell on the ball for the touchdown.

NORA LEE

A Story of Flaming Youth

Heart and Soul of 1924 Flapper Laid Bare in Best Story by Author of "Chickie"

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Meadows married Will Lee at seventeen. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he raised his hand to his two-year old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora at 17 fell in love with Dane Horrick. Andrew's wife recovers and attacks him with a pistol when she thinks he is about to leave her for Margaret.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY

By ELENORE MEHERIN

SUNDAY morning he was going to his office. There were papers he wanted. Lily stopped him in the hall. She said faintly: "Andrew—are you leaving me?"

He surveyed her with cold aversion. "I am returning in a few hours. Don't have me watched, Lily, for your own good—don't carry this thing any further."

"No? I am perfectly calm. Andrew. You will never leave me for her. I mean this."

He smiled: "I believe you do."

"Then you are warned."

Reaching his office, he suddenly remembered that his papers were in the safe deposit vaults. He could not get them until the morning.

He sat at his desk, his head buried in his arms. Time wheeled on cold, leaden feet. He felt his life stretched out and these cold, leaden feet beating it into the sod.

He came out of this lethargy to open a small concealed drawer. Here were two letters from Margaret. The only ones he had kept. One she had written after their first farewell that summer in the mountains . . . a sacramental letter, like their kiss at parting.

"Andrew, your coming has put a beauty in the sunset, a music in the dawn. I hold to these as gifts that make me glad to live through empty, loveless years. No matter what the future brings, we have this past, Andrew. I see your gentle eyes. Those dear things to hold eternally in mine."

He read this and began to sob, unable to check the storm of grief. He took the two letters and burnt them and put their ashes in a vase.

Monday he came to Nora Lee. It was [illegible] home. He was [illegible] pushed [illegible] "Andrew, oh, [illegible] Well, we were [illegible]

"What of Mother."

[illegible] going away, Nora Lee. [illegible] Dyer—"

"—not going with you, Andrew."

"What will my mother do?"

"Why, why, Nora Lee . . ."

She pointed to the living room. Tears rushed in her eyes, but she put her trembling hands on his shoulders. "Andrew—you can't go! Those words—you must come out and kiss me before you go."

"Don't care about it, Nora Lee—it may not be forever."

Margaret ran forward, but seeing his desperate look and hollow cheeks, she clasped her hands against her breast, closing her eyes.

He took her hands and drew them to his heart. Yet neither dared to meet each other's eyes.

He said quietly: "I am leaving, Margaret."

"Where are you going?"

"I will write to you."

"And we must part in this way, Andrew?"

"It seems the only thing to do. I waited too long, Margaret. I never dreamed that she could know. Oh, my love—my dear love—"

"No, Andrew—do not break your heart—ask to see me—I want your voice. Where are you going?"

"I will write, Margaret. Oh—things will be better, perhaps—"

"You are not telling me the truth."

"We have had the years of fullness, Margaret. Once you said it was a stolen thing. I have never thought so, Margaret, you have been wife to me and you only in thought and in heart. There has been no day in eight years, Margaret, that any other has had one moment's feeling and no wife, my dear loved Margaret—none was ever more sacredly beheld."

She glanced up to his face. She put her fragile hands against his cheeks, a deathly stillness in her heart. "Ah Andrew; are you telling me a last goodby?"

"I am telling you the beating of my soul. I am giving you my spirit, Margaret. I do not know why I am speaking so, but if it is a last good-by, my dear—you will remember the past. I can endure infinity of pain because of this. Can you?"

She shook his head down. She kissed his lips. Her lips faltered on his eyes.

He [illegible] her in his supple arms. [illegible] was strong again. She [illegible] that holy smile upon his face. "Andrew—so gladly—dear one—I am one. I know you cannot save me long."

The Parting

His arms wound against her. He dropped on his knees, as he had that night so long ago, and held her for a last, long moment, with his face in her gentle hands.

Andrew put a great white envelope in Nora Lee's hands. "Keep this for a while and don't tell Margaret. If you should need anything use what you want. Afterward Margaret will know what to do."

He kept his head down. Nora Lee noticed that his hands trembling were very cold and that they shook.

"Afterwards, Andrew? What do you mean by that? Aren't you coming back? Not ever?"

"I'm not very certain of my plans, Nora Lee. We can't always tell what may happen, can we?"

"Oh, Andrew, your hands are so cold, your voice sounds queer and different? Do you mean something worse is going to happen? Like last night?"

"No. Last night won't happen again. I'm making very certain of that. But I may not see you for some time, Nora Lee, and I wanted to be sure that you got this—just that. Is there anything else you want? And I wanted to ask you, when Lee is to think too harshly of your old friend, will you?"

Better Than Father

"Of you, Andrew? You've been better to me than a father. You have the kindest heart in all the world. But I guess you're remembering that day I ran into the house when Connie came. I'm so ashamed of that. It makes me burn even [illegible] Did you know I took a vow on account of that? Perhaps you can never [illegible] thing to [illegible] Well, we were [illegible]

RECORD CROWDS DEMANDING AMERICAN CHICKIE APRONS

Mark up another record day for distribution of Chickie Tea Aprons.

We don't think a bigger crowd could be served from all the Chickie stations, but Saturday that thing happened.

Chickie Tea Aprons come in two colors, pretty green and just as pretty red. Both have ruffled rubber edges and ruffled rubber pockets—sewed and not cemented flat.

They can be secured either at the Boston American office or at any of the following depots:

Coffin Signs Must Not Be Posted On Doctors' Homes

Washington, Oct. 29.—Regulations for a "Safe and Sane" Halloween were announced today by the police.

Chorus girls' pictures may not be pasted on church doors nor undertakers' signs on doctors' residences.

Throwing bricks at doors is prohibited, use of flour as a substitute for confetti is barred and masks may not be worn on the street.

Horn tooting, confetti tossing, if gently done, and innocent pranking are sanctioned.

B. & M. FIGHTS HAVERHILL BUS LINE

Haverhill, Oct. 29.—Establishment of a motor bus line between this city and Boston will result in an increase of fares on the Boston & Maine and a possible curtailment of service.

This ultimatum was delivered to the City Council by W. O. Wright, assistant general passenger agent of the railroad.

With Henry A. Burke, general yard master, and Allen M. Gosselin, local agent of the road, he appeared before the council, together with Charles Bixby of the Commonwealth Motor Coach Company of Worcester.

The bus company wants to run five buses a day to Boston. The trip will require an hour and thirty minutes and the fare would be $1.25.

Express trains run to Boston in fifty-five minutes and the regular fare is $1.19. Monthly tickets permit residents of this city to commute for one cent a mile to Boston and students travel for less money.

Mr. Wright told the council that the railroad service to Boston is adequate and the rates to communities less than the proposed fare on the bus line. He refused would be more dependable for year-round service. Mr. Wright said, and he saw no necessity for a bus line.

DEBTS HAUNTED GIRL SUICIDE, SAYS DIARY

San Mateo, Cal., Oct. 29.—In the room in which Frank Rose Chambers, Jr., said to have been the son of a millionaire New York clothes merchant, had been reading just before he shot himself dead here, heartbroken because of the scandal into which she had been thrown because of her alleged addiction to the use of narcotics.

daughter, Marilouise, was found a few minutes later, in which the young girl wrote down the story of her life's unhappiness as the result of the separation of her parents, and the grief, suffering and despair into which she had been thrown because of her alleged addiction to the use of narcotics.

The Boston American here presents in the short, jerky sentences of a distracted, life-crazed girl the second half of the story of Marilouise Chambers as told in her diary.

This installment contains the record of her trip up the Nile, through Italy and France and into England and Scotland, during which she fought a losing fight against drugs and whiskey.

After her suicide in San Mateo, Marilouise's father admitted his daughter had learned to take drugs in a girls' school a few weeks ago, and that he feared Marilouise's desperate act was prompted by a depressment caused by this habit.

In the whole volume of her diary there is only one reference to suicide. It is just one scrawled world, which the record under the date of October 7—"suicide." This is the date upon which Marilouise shot herself to death.

There is, however, written in another book belonging to the girl, the following passage in her handwriting:

"The story that suicide is cowardly and a sin is erroneous.

"It is sometimes the highest form of right and courage.

Picking up the diary where it terminated yesterday, the entries find the girl aboard the steamship Louise as a cruise up the Nile. The important excerpts follow in part:

JANUARY 29. "Want terribly to get started in the definite way. I was happiest when I was doing stenographic work.

JANUARY 30. "Woosy fan affectionate term for her mother. Chambers' first wife was on my mind all day.

At this juncture in the narrative Marilouise brings in mystery in speaking of "debts." It is certain they were not debts of the financial variety, but a feeling that she owed somebody something. Whether, it was ravages for wrongs or sources of action too kindness cannot be told.

World's Largest Gem, 90-Pound Topaz, Now in Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 29.—A white topaz, weighing 90 pounds, large enough to make 200,120 diamond rings of one carat and said to be the largest precious gem ever has been placed on exhibition in the Field Museum here. It was brought from Maranibuia, Minas, Brazil, by O. C. Farrington, head of the Museum's department of Geology, who headed one of Captain Marshall Field's South American expeditions. If placed on the market, the stone would supply the demand for many years, museum officials said.

They prayed on her mind for days, however.

JANUARY 31. "Many regrets and will have to make more in order to pay off my debts."

FEBRUARY 1. "If I can ever pay off the debts and be free maybe I won't be so N. G. (No good.)"

FEBRUARY 4. "Visited to the Temple of the Kings and—feel as though I had nothing to go back on."

The next day Marilouise again "slips" and takes some drink. It is almost the end of her fight against the drug habit as well as the end of the long intimate entries into her diary.

FEBRUARY 5. "Luxor and the Temple of Karnak. Dinner at Mrs. F.—drinks—feel as though I could put it over."

FEBRUARY 6. "I certainly feel as though—what's the use? If I pay back it means give myself."

The last intimate entry in Marilouise's diary is dated February 9, when she rates her arrival in Cairo. For several weeks after this, the girl refused to place intimate heart secrets in writing. That she had lost her fight in the day in Cairo in which her intimate entries end is evidenced by a letter written months later by Mrs. Frank Chambers, Jr., to her son, Frank Chambers, Jr., Marilouise's father. In this letter, Chambers' mother tells how she learned Marilouise's companion had trouble with the girl in Cairo on account of drugs. The letter follows:

"Cross Nest, Bronxville, Westchester County, Aug. 28, 1924.

"My dear Son:

"I learned yesterday the thing I feared in my heart—that Marilouise is taking veronal again, and drink, too. And if she goes off alone she is more certain than not to come to the probation officer for care, or be paralyzed in time. She is still too young to have the strength or will to resist.

"Shall we take hold of her or let her have her own way and run on the rocks again? Mary G had trouble with her in Cairo about whiskey and those spells of starling, not speaking, crying, etc.

"May God help us.

"MOTHER."

(Another installment of this enthralling diary will be published tomorrow.)

A. & P. STORES HANG UP NEW SALES RECORD

The total sale of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company stores for the last fiscal year reached the tremendous figure of $797,253,569.

The company, with its more than 10,000 retail food stores is now doing the largest cash business in the world.

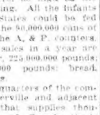
This great business was founded 65 years ago by George Huntington Hartford, a native of Augusta, Me., when he opened a small tea and coffee store in New York. Since then it has expanded into a chain of stores with popular-priced establishments in virtually every American community of any importance.

The slight idea of the huge volume of business transacted by the A. & P. Company may be gained by a comparison of the tonnage that passes in the course of a year.

Coffee will amount to 67,000,000 pounds, which would require a trainload of 1116 freight cars, eight miles along, to transport, and the amount of tea sold if placed in a gigantic cup, would G. H. Hartford submerge the Rock of Gibraltar. A crate large enough to hold the 35,000,000 dozens of eggs sold in a year would be of sufficient size to serve as a hangar for the airship Shenandoah, while the amount of butter sold annually represents the product of 250,000 dairy cows.

Potato sales of 504,000,000 pounds would fill a barrel as high as the Woolworth building. All the infants in the United States could be fed for a month on the 50,000,000 cans of milk sold over the A. & P. counters. Other totals of sales in a year are as follows: Flour, 225,000,000 pounds; sugar, 285,000,000 pounds; bread, 200,000,000 loaves.

The legal headquarters of the company is in Somerville, and adjacent is the bakery that supplies thousands of loaves of Grandmother's bread to customers in this part of the country. In addition to its bakery the company operates salmon canneries in Alaska, canned milk plants, chocolate, cocoa, peanut butter and macaroni factories and coffee roasting plants. A staff of experts and an office is maintained in the heart of the coffee-growing districts of Brazil. Also the concern has offices in London and elsewhere for the handling of imported commodities.



THE HELPING HAND

In Dire Need

Editor Boston American:

My mother is a cripple and can not work and I have to go to school. Everybody laughs at me because I wear such ragged clothes. We would have nothing to eat only the good neighbors help us now and then. I do not know what we are going to do, so I am appealing to your kind readers for help and God knows we need it. My mother wears size 42-2 and shoe size 3. I take size 15 or 16 although I am a girl 13 years of age. My shoes are size 3½. If I had a new dress or wouldn't know how to put it on. My mother has only one dress which is in rags. We have our mail come to General Delivery as we live in a shed. S. M.

Offers Baby Food

Helping Hand Editor:

I have three cans of baby food, the large size, that I should like to pass on to some mother who is using this food for her baby.

MRS. F. A. H.

Many thanks. We now can fill Mrs. S's appeal and are sending you her address.

War Veteran Needs Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I am an ex-service man and was disabled in the war. I am in need of a suit of clothes and overcoat, size 38. This will help me out a lot as I am married and have a little girl to support and only work part time as I am not able to work steady. R. E. G.

Clothes Offered

Helping Hand Editor:

Please send me the address of some man or boy who is in need of clothes, size 38 and 40. I. R.

Many thanks. Mr. F., father of four little children and in ill health will be glad to get your offering.

Girl Needs Coat

Helping Hand Editor:

My husband has not worked enough in two years to pay his own board and is not working now. I have four children a girl 15, who I am trying to send through High School. She is much in need of a Winter coat and is still wearing her Summer one. I have no Winter coat I take size 42. We would appreciate any help. MRS. V.

Handy With Needle

Helping Hand Editor:

After a struggle of over two years trying to get along, I now ask your help. Do you know of any store or anyone who will buy all kinds of crochet work or have me make luncheon sets for them or from odd pieces of lace? I would appreciate it also if some kind readers had some toys for my three year old boy. Also shirts for a man that wears size 40 clothing and if anyone has got a wringer that will fit on a washtub they don't want, I would be so pleased to get it. Any kind of work that I could do in my home would be gladly done. MRS. A. M.—Fall River.

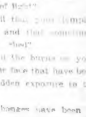
Thanks For Mrs. E.

Helping Hand Editor:

I thank you for the assistance and help received through your paper for me. I wish you would also thank Mrs. E., East Boston, for her kindness. J. N.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. F. X. Mahoney
Boston Health Commissioner



It sounds queer to talk about a "dose" of sunlight, doesn't it?

If, however, you stop a moment to consider the expression it will not seem particular.

Have you ever gone horseback for a time on one of the direct rays of the sun?

Do you recall what your eyes have been more. Dr. Mahoney, or less blind and that you have had to squint to protect them from an undue amount of heat?

Do you recall that your lunches have shrunken and that sometimes your head has "dizzy"?

Do you recall the burns on your arms or on some face that have been induced by sudden exposure to the sun?

All these changes have been induced by light, generally by the direct action of the white light that is communicated by the sun's rays.

There are even more pronounced effects, even disastrous effects, that are induced by the same cause. Some persons, especially those with lowered vitality, often are made positively ill by only a brief exposure of the entire body to the action of the sun.

It is for this reason that the medical profession has become alert to the fact that in light alone it has a most powerful agent to influence the functions of the human body in both health and disease.

This influence is so powerful that the doctors have been forced to recognize more or less the definite "dose" as adaptable to a given individual under different conditions of age and bodily vigor.

You get the fully desired effect of the sun bath only when the exposure gives you a sense of well-being.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

Teacher: "Johnny, can you tell me what we're the most touching of the senses?"

Johnny: "Feeling."

Teacher: "Why?"

Johnny: "When you sit on a tack you can't see it, you can't hear it, you can't taste it, but you can feel it."

Catherine McHugh.

No. 71 Salem Street, Salem.

SMART SAYINGS OF CLEVER CHILDREN

Mr. B.— bought his little three-year-old son a pair of glasses. The following morning when he was getting ready for work, he heard the little fellow exclaiming: "Dood! I have to take my glasses off now when I go to bed at night."

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

The revelations of the income tax fraud by one's neighbor and by national figures have excited more talk than the political speechifying. These disclosures, indeed, have proved the spiciest news printed in years.

The officials are going to be far-reaching.

* * *

A great many people doubtless feel as I do. I have never tried to decipher paying the legitimate amount, but when I read of how little is being paid by many men of much greater income and far greater wealth, I am inclined to feel that I have been a fool. Apparently, I should have consulted a sharp lawyer. The whole sorry exhibit makes one ask, "What's the use of being honest with our government?"

* * *

I have spotted on the list more than one man receiving in salary alone upwards of $50,000 a year but who are paying only the tax on one-fifth or less of their salaries. How do they get away with it?

* * *

At that, however, salaried men, as a whole, are apparently getting the worst of the deal. Many of the reputed millionaires, some of them still active in business, have found means and ways to dodge their payments. One can understand how a retired multi-millionaire like Senator Coumes can get away with a payment of a few thousand dollars, because men of this class can simply invest their fortunes in tax-free securities. But how active business leaders, who are still up to their neck in money-making, can come out paying a mere fraction of income tax is hard for the layman to figure out—that is, how it can be done honestly.

I notice, for example, that several railroad presidents paid a year more than men of great wealth, notwithstanding that some of these railroad presidents, I know, have only their salaries and their moderate savings.

* * *

The honest man drawing a good salary cannot conceal the amount he receives, because the corporation or firm employing him has to present a statement to the Tax Collector showing the exact amount paid all employes receiving taxable salaries. The majority of salaried men do not engage in outside ventures, so that they cannot escape paying income taxes by writing off losses.

* * *

Clearly, the law is operating unfairly against the honest man earning a salary and is full of loopholes for others.

One of two things is likely to happen.

Either there will be an overwhelming and successful demand that the publicity feature of the income tax law be repealed, or there will set in a strong movement to have the income tax law itself abolished.

EXTRA DIVIDEND ON LOEW'S A POSSIBILITY

Stockholders of State Theatre Co., 30 per cent. of whose stock is owned by Loew's Boston Theatres Co., at meeting Tuesday approved recommendation of directors that present issue of $1,000,000 8 per cent. first mortgage bonds be called and refunded from part of an issue of $1,500,000 6 per cent. 10-year bonds.

Loew's Boston Theatres Co. stockholders approved increase in capital stock of 42,500 shares, for purposes of acquiring shares of State Theatre Co. by exchange on basis of one share of Loew's Boston for 1½ shares of State Theatre common. This will give State Theatre common stockholders benefit of dividends of 25 cents quarterly now being paid by Loew's Boston common. It was stated at the meeting that an extra dividend of 25 cents might be paid in February.

Rail Casualties

Seven hundred forty-three persons killed and 23,240 injured on British railroads in year 1923, compared with 728 killed and 19,462 injured in 1922, with an average of 1,008 persons killed and 28,528 injured in ten years from 1912 to 1921, inclusive.

Iron Products

Iron Products for Sept. 30 quarter reports balance available for dividends of $258,478. After preferred dividends balance equals $1.48 a common share. Nine months net income was $975,896, equal, after preferred dividends, to $5.78 a common share.

FRENCH LOAN TO PAY 7 P. C. OR BETTER

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

It seems to be pretty generally agreed that the coming $150,000,000 French loan will pay 7 per cent. or better.

While reports are issuing periodically from Paris that the contract for the French government loan has or has not been signed, there is little evidence here of any extraordinary activity in the way of preparing for the business.

The loan is regarded in investment circles as definitely on the schedule, although it is consistently established that it will not be along for ten days or two weeks at the earliest.

Under the circumstances, Paris claims and denials are not arousing much interest. Far more to the point is the matter of terms upon which the loan will be issued, and concerning these there is much speculation.

One group looks for a 7 per cent. issue at 95 or thereabouts, while another holds that if the amount is to be large an offering of 7½s at par would best meet market conditions.

A sufficient number of the larger railroad systems have filed their reports for the month of September to make the prediction safe that earnings for that month will exceed by a substantial margin those of the same month in 1923. Aggregate net operating income of the Class 1 carriers in September, 1923, was somewhat over $52,000,000, or at the rate of 4.46 per cent on the tentative valuation of the roads. While it is too early to make anything like an accurate estimate, there is little doubt that for the first time since last March the carriers of the country passed the 5 per cent mark in September.

Investors in Germany have repurchased the bulk of the 20,000,000 marks of German war loan bonds here in 1920-21, dealers in foreign securities assert, reaping enormous profits to American holders in doing so. These repurchases were made in anticipation of the formation of a party or parties committed to revaluation of the bonds.

Recently American dealers who sold war loan bonds to Berlin in anticipation of buying them at cheaper price here, thereby making an arbitrage profit, have found it increasingly difficult to buy the bonds in New York. The German 5 per cent. war loan, now quoted around 21,000 per million marks, sold last month at $2,400, and in November, 1923, it was offered at $5 per million marks.

During the excited markets of August and September it is figured that 200,000,000 marks worth of the bonds were shipped back to Germany each day. Today the export movement has dwindled to 20,000,000 marks daily.

While admitting that German bondholders may, in the event that the established political parties in Germany refuse to support their demands for "revaluation," their many seats in the Reichstag themselves, dealers in German bonds here warn that too much credence must not be placed in stories of approaching "revaluation" or firing as arbitrary gold value on the paper mark bonds. To pay the interest coupons alone on mark bonds at a rate of 15 per cent. gold value would require 50,000,000 gold marks annually.

Someone appears to have become excited over the fact that Maine's largest income taxpayer has not figured largely in the news of the Pine Tree State. If the newspapers of Maine printed even nearly referendums to all the distinguished visitors the State entertains during the glorious Summer it enjoys, the journals aforementioned would be compelled to extend their columns materially.

Wall St. Gossip

STANDARD OIL of California declared regular quarterly 50 cents dividend, payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 17.

NORFOLK & WESTERN declared regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on common, both payable Dec. 19 to stock of record Nov. 29.

INTERBOROUGH Rapid Transit paid after all charges and maintenance was $87,177 and for three months deficit was $923,184.

NET OPERATING income of Canadian Pacific declined to $4,847,645 in September from corresponding with $4,407,472 in September, 1923.

FLORIDA, WESTERN & Northern's subsidiary of Seaboard Air Line now under construction, will be opened for passenger and freight traffic on Jan. 1.

AMERICAN POWER & Light reports balance of $13,873,617 for year ended August 31, after taxes, but before depreciation and interest charges against $13,027,879 the year before.

CANADIAN PACIFIC total for the nine months was $20,445,831 against $19,251,424 a year ago.

AMERICAN CHICLE'S PROFITS ARE LARGER

American Chicle Co., for quarter ended Sept. 30, 1924, reports net profits of $346,083 after expenses, interest and depreciation, but before Federal income, equivalent to $11.53 a share on outstanding $3,000,000. 6 per cent preferred stock upon which accumulated dividends amount to 10½ per cent. Allowing for quarterly preferred dividend requirements, balance is equivalent to $1.93 a share earned on outstanding 155,842 shares of no par common stock. This compares with $124,806 or $4.16 a share on preferred in third quarter of 1923.

Campaign Cause of Boom In Listed Radio Stocks

General desire of the American public to have radio outfits with which to keep in auricular contact with the present political campaign is held largely responsible for the sudden boom in listed radio stocks.

Dubilier, listed but inactive on the Boston Stock Exchange, offered originally at $10 a share, now sells on the New York Curb for $54. Hazeltine has advanced from 10 to around 30; Ware from 12.50 to $28 and Rova from $9 to 13.50.

STOCKS MOVE UP AND DOWN

In trading on the New York Stock Exchange, the morning market was characterized by alternate periods of heaviness and strength. A rebound after the initial sinking spell was followed by another dip which in turn gave way to a rally on the declaration of an increased dividend on the common stock of the American Tobacco Co., which jumped about 4 points.

American Water Works sold 4 points below Tuesday's close, American Ice 3¾. Nash Motors, Beech Nut and Manhattan Electrical Supply 2 points or more. Investment rails pointed upward with New York Central and Atchison in good demand. Seaboard All Line resumed the leadership of the upward movement in low-priced issues. Montgomery Ward moved up 1½ to a new top at 39¾.

American Tobacco declared quarterly dividend of 3½ per cent. on common and Class "B" common, payable December 1 to stock of record November 15.

Stockholders vote November 6 on proposal to reduce par of common and common "B" to $10 from $100. Authorized common will thereby be increased to 1,000,000 shares from 500,000,000 and authorized "B" to 2,000,000 shares from 1,000,000. This means dividend rate on new shares will be $7, equal to $14 on old shares, against previous rate of 4 per cent. raised on old stock since 75 per cent. stock dividend.

In Boston Stock Exchange trading Pacific Mills and Calumet & Arizona both sold up over a point. Other changes were fractional.

Look on the Windshield for Certificate

Every used car advertised on this page has undergone a rigid inspection. The Boston American employs expert mechanics to make tests.

Only an "INSPECTED" car can receive the blue certificate of inspection. It is your protection and safeguard.

If you do not see the blue Certificate on the windshield of the car you want to buy, ask the dealer to have an inspection made, by telephoning the Boston American, Liberty 4000. No charge nor obligation.

Cars which pass our inspection are, of course the good cars. Thus the list below contains the pick of the USED CAR market in Boston. All types of cars, at all prices, and all inspected.

The Boston American will help you select a Used Car Bargain at just the price you can afford to pay.

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1924

BOSTON AMERICAN

THE LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

There are 12 States where boys and girls under 16 are permitted to work nine, ten, or eleven hours a day. In those 12 States 61,000 children under 16 marched into the mills this morning before you were out of bed.

Opponents of the Child Labor Amendment say Congress cannot be trusted. Then they call the supporters of the Amendment "Bolshevists." Among these supporters are Calvin Coolidge, John W. Davis and Senator La Follette.

Foes of the Child Labor Amendment Are Reminded of Justices Holmes and Brandeis

IT has remained for Herbert Parker, Esq., learned and distinguished advocate, to add the ugly word "traitor" to the already formidable list of epithets applied to those citizens who sincerely, and as they believe patriotically, urge the ratification by Massachusetts of the Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution.

"Traitors!" Mr. Herbert Parker says.

Mr. Louis A. Coolidge, treasurer of the United Shoe Machinery Company, some time since described the amendment as the "spawn of the Soviet."

The Honorable James M. Curley's word is "Bolshevik."

Ugly words!

But NOT uttered seriously.

Not for one minute would Herbert Parker, or Louis A. Coolidge, or the Mayor of Boston, desire us to believe that when they cry "traitor," and "spawn of the Soviet," and "Bolshevik," are the words to be understood as reflecting in any way upon the eminent jurists whose likenesses are printed today upon this page.

These are the four Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States who were on the children's side in the memorable 5 to 4 decision by which it was held that in passing the Child Labor Act of 1916 Congress had "exceeded its commerce power and invaded the powers reserved to the States."

Mr. Justice Holmes—Oliver Wendell Holmes of Massachusetts, son of the immortal "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table"—took the OPPOSITE view.

It was Justice Holmes who wrote the DISSENTING opinion, printed, in part, below the pictures.

On October 21, 1861, Oliver Wendell Holmes, then of the 20th Massachusetts Volunteers, was wounded in the breast at Ball's Bluff.

Herbert Parker will not call HIM a "traitor."

In '62, at Antietam, Oliver Wendell Holmes was wounded again.

No one will sneer "spawn of the Soviet" at HIM.

He received a third bullet in '63, this time at Marye's Hill.

Does any agile politician use the word "Bolshevik"?

Not one.

AND YET, as one of the nine members of the Supreme Court of the United States, as spokesman for the four who were outvoted BY ONE, on the question of the constitutionality of the first national child labor law, Mr. Justice Holmes went much further than any advocate of the amendment has gone, or can go, in this hectic Massachusetts campaign.

Justice Holmes took the ground, as you see here, that the national child labor law did NOT meddle with "ANYTHING belonging to the States."

And Mr. Justice Brandeis, Mr. Justice McKenna and Mr. Justice Clarke CONCURRED in that opinion.

These four great Americans, two of them eminent citizens of our own Massachusetts, took the position that in passing the national Child Labor Act of 1916 the Congress was well within its rights.

The first Washington suggestion that the time had come when the United States should grapple as a nation with the child labor menace was made eighteen years ago, on December 5, 1906, when child labor bills were presented by two United States Senators.

One of these Senators was Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana.

The other was Henry Cabot Lodge.

Why these bills were put in at that time we do not know, but anyone who has been long familiar with the Legislatures of our New England States will recall that not once but scores and possibly hundreds of times he has heard counsel for the corporations say, in polite opposition to labor legislation of one sort and another:

"Gentlemen, we do not say this proposed law is without merit; it may have merit. But is this the time and is this the place?

"We say to you, gentlemen of the committee, that the industries of (name of the State) cannot go on in the face of legislation of this character AND IN COMPETITION WITH THE INDUSTRIES OF OTHER STATES WHICH ARE FREE TO USE THE LABOR OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

"Let us have a Federal law on the subject, applying to all the States alike. And I am here to assure you, on behalf of the organization I have the honor to represent, that we will do all in our power to help you get such legislation."

Well, it IS a fact that an American boy of 13 in one State is very much the same as an American boy of 13 in another State.

It IS a fact that what is bad and harmful for one lad is bad and harmful for another.

It IS a fact that if it is bad and injurious for a child of 13 to work in a factory in Massachusetts it must be equally bad and injurious for a child of 13 to be employed in a factory in North Carolina.

A circular saw is just as dangerous in Maine as in Missouri.

Eventually, these truths and many others impressed themselves upon Congress, and in August, 1916, the Keating Bill was passed.

Because of the subsequent 5 to 4 vote of the United States Supreme Court it may be of importance to place on the record at this point the fact that the vote was 337 to 46 in the House of Representatives and 52 to 12 in the Senate.

The Keating Bill did not appear to be a measure to get excited about.

It provided that no one should be permitted to ship in foreign or interstate commerce any article from a mine or a quarry employing persons under 16; or any article from cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment employing persons under 14; or employing persons from 14 to 16 years old more than eight hours a day, more than six days a week, or before 6 o'clock in the morning or after 7 o'clock in the evening.

THAT, good fathers and kind and loving mothers of Massachusetts, was the first national Child Labor law.

The ink was scarcely dry upon the new statute, however, before the judge of a United States District Court in North Carolina assumed to hold it void as unconstitutional and enjoin its enforcement.

The case is known in the books as "Hammer vs. Dagenhart."

Hammer, the United States attorney for the Western District of North Carolina, appealed to the United States Supreme Court from the decision of the district judge.

Dagenhart, the appellee, was represented to be acting upon his own behalf and as the "next friend" of his two sons, one a boy of 14 and the other a lad between 14 and 16, who were working in a Charlotte cotton mill.

"Night work and excessive hours of labor indoors in factories at a certain stage in the development of the child's body," the United States attorney argued, "stunts the physique and reduces the resistance to disease."

The existence of the child labor evil in some States, he declared, deterred other States from enacting laws for the protection of their own children.

And, finally, he called attention to the United States law which prohibits the importation of goods which have been made in other countries by convict labor.

Mr. Justice Day wrote the majority opinion of the Court, four other justices agreeing with him, and the law was declared unconstitutional.

The vote was 5 to 4, a majority of only one, but enough to overrule 389 elected representatives of the people.

The case was decided on June 3, 1918. At the time there was comparatively little discussion of it. The French were driving the Germans back towards Soissons. There were 14 New England names on the casualty list. Citizens were called upon to report idlers to the draft boards.

And then, Congress tried a second time to make one law for all the children of America.

The Revenue Act of 1918 contained a provision, fathered by Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, imposing a 10 per cent. tax upon the net annual profits of employers who knowingly employed a child under the age limits set by the Keating Bill.

THIS law struck a snag in the same State of North Carolina. It is in the books as the "Child Labor Tax Case," J. W. Bailey against the Drexel Furniture Company.

Bailey was the Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of North Carolina. The furniture company being charged with employing a boy under 14, the government officer attempted to collect a tax of $6,312.79.

The District Court said "No." The collector appealed to the Supreme Court and in an opinion delivered by Mr. Chief Justice Taft the Pomerene law was held to be "not a valid exercise by Congress of its powers of taxation."

And so we have come to a pass where an amendment to the Constitution is necessary before a national remedy can be applied to a national evil.

No such amendment can be added to the Constitution except by vote of 36 of the 48 States.

Massachusetts is the ONLY State in which the Legislature has referred the question to the people.

This explains the tremendous effort which has been made here to confuse and alarm the voter, telling him a national Child Labor law will prevent persons from working before they are 18, that it will "nationalize" the children of America, and similar bedtime scare-you-to-deaths.

The record shows that the Child Labor laws of four States—Massachusetts, Minnesota, Montana and North Dakota—SURPASS the standards set by the two Federal laws.

The record also shows that the standards of Alabama, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wisconsin were in all essentials AS HIGH as the standards of the Federal law.

BUT—

Twenty States have neither the 8-hour day nor the 48-hour week, and in those twenty States children under 16 may be employed in factories and canneries.

Selfish and powerful interests in those States, which desire to exploit child labor, have been sufficiently powerful to prevent State legislation.

If industry in America was guided by the Golden Rule, instead of by the rule of gold, there would be no need of a national Child Labor law. But it isn't and we all know it isn't.

What are we going to do about it?

Louisiana, North Carolina and Georgia have rejected the amendment.

Louisiana this year defeated a bill limiting the hours of its working CHILDREN to 9 a day and 54 a week.

Thousands of children 14 and 15 years old in the mills and factories of North Carolina may work 11 hours a day and 60 a week. But the North Carolina law limits to 9 hours a day the labor of convicts whose work is contracted out.

Any child in Georgia may work 10 or 11 hours a day or even longer, for there is no limitation except the 60-hour week in cotton and woolen mills.

Georgia allows children of 14½ years to work ALL NIGHT. Not ONE improvement has been made in Georgia's Child Labor laws in the past 10 years.

Child labor in ANY State lowers the manhood in EVERY State.

It gives manufacturers in States where it is permitted an unfair advantage over those in States having Child Labor laws.

So long as there is a single State, which for selfish or other reasons fails to enact effective child labor legislation, it is beyond the power of every other State to protect its producers against unfair competition or protect its consumers against unwillingly patronizing those who exploit the childhood of the country.

The Federal government, it is plain, CAN spend time and money in the establishment and maintenance of departments relating to the breeding, raising, distribution and export of cattle, sheep and hogs; can spend time and money, is spending them.

But—without this Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution—the Federal government can do NOTHING to see that children are properly protected up to the time when they may go to work without injury to themselves and without injury to the nation.

Shall the slaughter go on?

Patriotic, high-minded, God-fearing citizens will say "No" to that question and VOTE "YES" on this amendment.

Patriotic, high-minded, God-fearing citizens will say, as those who have been carrying the burden of this battle for a generation, that the life of one little American, the making of one American citizen, is worth one hundred years of academic discussion about the danger of curing a national evil through the NATIONAL government.

Dr. Crane's Article Appears on Page 11, and the Helping Hand Will Be Found on Page 19.

"The Product of Ruined Lives"

"But if there is any matter upon which civilized countries have agreed—far more unanimously than they have with regard to intoxicants and some other matters over which this country is now emotionally aroused—it is the evil of premature and excessive child labor.

"I should have thought that if we were to introduce our own moral conceptions where in my opinion they do not belong this was pre-eminently a case for upholding the exercise of all its powers by the United States.

"But I had thought that the propriety of the exercise of a power admitted to exist in some cases was for the consideration of Congress alone and that the Court always had disavowed the right to intrude its judgment upon questions of policy or morals.

"It is not for this Court to pronounce when prohibition is necessary to regulation, if it ever may be necessary—to say that it IS permissible as against strong drink but not as against THE PRODUCT OF RUINED LIVES.

"THIS ACT DOES NOT MEDDLE WITH ANYTHING BELONGING TO THE STATES.

"They may regulate their internal affairs and their domestic commerce as they like.

"But when they seek to send their products across the State line they are no longer within their rights."—Mr. Justice Holmes, on the first Federal Child Labor law, an opinion in which Mr. Justice McKenna, Mr. Justice Brandeis, and Mr. Justice Clarke concurred.
